THE SILENT GIVES VIEWS ON THIS AND THAT

Shows Human Side in Interview.

On his last day in the woods President Coolidge sat down with Bruce Barton, a personal friend, and chatted amiably, answering some of the questions which are often in the mind of his fellow citizens and which they would like to ask him if they could. The notes of this talk proved to be an interesting revelation of the human side of the chief executive that the visitor prevailed upon him to do just from precedent in this single instance and allow himself to be quoted in the American people directly through the medium of the Associated Press.

BY BRUCE BARTON.

(Copyrighted by The Associated Press.) A patient and persistent father was waiting as the President and I left the White House building that had been the scene of his headquarters for the past few days. He had stationed his 4 year old daughter on the steps and inquired her just how to thrust her head of wild flowers into the President's hand when he came out of the door. The President took the flowers with a smile, the shutter of the father's camera clicked, his long trip had been a success.

The President held the flowers in his hand as we rode back to the camp and then into a vase in the living room. We had hardly settled ourselves in front of the big open fire before the White House called, Rob Roy and Prudence Prime, were upon us. Their long silhouettes were promptly planted in the center of the President's vest. They have in respect for the dignity of office, and he smiles them gloriously.

No Time to Ride.

"I am sure in the papers a picture of you showing a saddle horse in Washington," I said, "but I have never seen any picture of you riding him."

"It takes too long to change your clothes," he answered.

"Did you ride when you were a boy?"

"Yes. All farm boys ride. I rode occasionally. I liked it."

"Did you play tennis, baseball, and swim in the old swimming hole?"

"I played tennis and baseball. Around where I lived there was no old swimming hole. I have played golf only a little. I think it is a fine method of relaxation for men in business life, but like everything else which is an artificial enterprise it can undoubtedly be carried to excess. My favorite exercise is walking."

Music and the Theater.

"Formerly I went to the theater," he continued. "I have had this opportunity to do so since the time I became lieutenant governor. Now I enjoy the theater now, I feel that it gives me so that I feel the effect of it the next day. I do not know why this should be so. Perhaps it is because I have to sit in a box, and to my mind is not nearly so comfortable as occupying a seat on the floor."

"I have always liked to read poetry. My mother was very fond of it. I read Tennyson a great deal, and I say my boyhood I found the poems of Scott very interesting. I have a great deal of the poetry of Longfellow, James Whitcomb Riley, and Rudyard Kipling. My grandmother always gave me a complete set of Longfellow, which I read much. Much of my life has been a fascination for me, and many years I read some of the poems. Lost' each night before I went to sleep."

"I should say that Whitman and Longfellow have given me more real pleasure than any other great masters of poetry because they have written about life. Which I lived when I was a boy. The Cotters Saturday Night."

"I am dealing with a foreign land, and I have never had a deep religious feeling that reminded me of the religious faith of my grandmother. Coolidge's 'Snowbound' is a complete revelation of what is best in rural life."

Little Time for Fiction.

"I have little time to read books and newspapers, except those things that are of problems that are before me. I read extracts from newspapers which are daily and are laid before me, most interesting public questions. I read the news, the editorial comment, and I touch with the commercial world on page 4, column 5."

DEMPSEY TO FACE TUNNEY BEFORE 130,000

Betting Odds Favor Champion.

Fight News

W-G-N The Tribune radio station on the Drake hotel will broadcast the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight tonight direct from ringside in the sequentennial stadium in Philadelphia. Broadcast will start at 6:30 Chicago time and will include a complete blow by blow account of preliminaries as well as the title fight which will go on the air between 8:30 and 9 o'clock.

Boxing fans also may obtain the latest returns of the fight by calling Superior 0100 and Superior 0220.

BY ELMER DAVIS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, will defend his title tomorrow night against Gene Tunney in the sequentennial stadium before the largest amphitheater crowd that ever has seen a sporting event of any kind since the games in the Roman Circus Maximus were called on account of the darkness of the dark ages.

Upwards of 130,000 people, according to present indications, will see the fight, which will start about 9:45 p. m., which is $45 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time, and will pay more money for the privilege than ever came into the box office of any other sporting event in history.

Under the Pennsylvania boxing laws the fight can go no more than ten rounds. It can end by a knockout, by a technical knockout due to the referee's stopping the fight to avoid excessive punishment of one of the combatants, or the failure of the fighter to answer the bell at the beginning of the round, on a foul, or by a decision.

Fans Pick Champion.

In the case of fights for a championship which goes to a decision, the champion usually gets the benefit of any doubt that may exist. The overwhelming majority of fight experts do not think there will be any room left for doubt. They believe Dempsey will win by a knockout.

Against that view the Tunney fan argues that the challenger is only 28 years old, the champion 31; that youth has in the past usually counted in the fight game; that Dempsey has not fought for three years, since he knocked out Louis Angel Firpo at the Polo grounds in the second round on Sept. 13, 1923; that when he fought Tommy Gibbons on July 4 of that year, after a two year layoff, he was unable to knock Gibbons out, a feat which Tunney accomplished last year.

Say Dempsey's in Good Shape.

The Dempsey supporters, against these arguments, set up the defense that the champion has kept himself in better shape during the last three years than he did in the two years before he met Gibbons; that he is an aggressive fighter, whereas Tunney has usually stuck largely to the defensive and waited for the breaks, and that Dempsey's record is considerably more impressive than Tunney's.

Money bet on the fight, which apparently is not much as yet, strongly favors Dempsey. The odds this evening were 3 to 1 on the champion.

Summum Legal Barriers.

To get into the ring tomorrow night the fighters have had to wade through such a mass of legal entanglements as has never impeded a championship fight before. Old time fighters used to have difficulty with government and legislatures which were opposed to fighting altogether. The fight game is more respectable now and also more prosperous, so the legal attacks this time have been directed by the animus of persons who believe that they ought to share in the proceeds of the most lucrative sporting event on record.

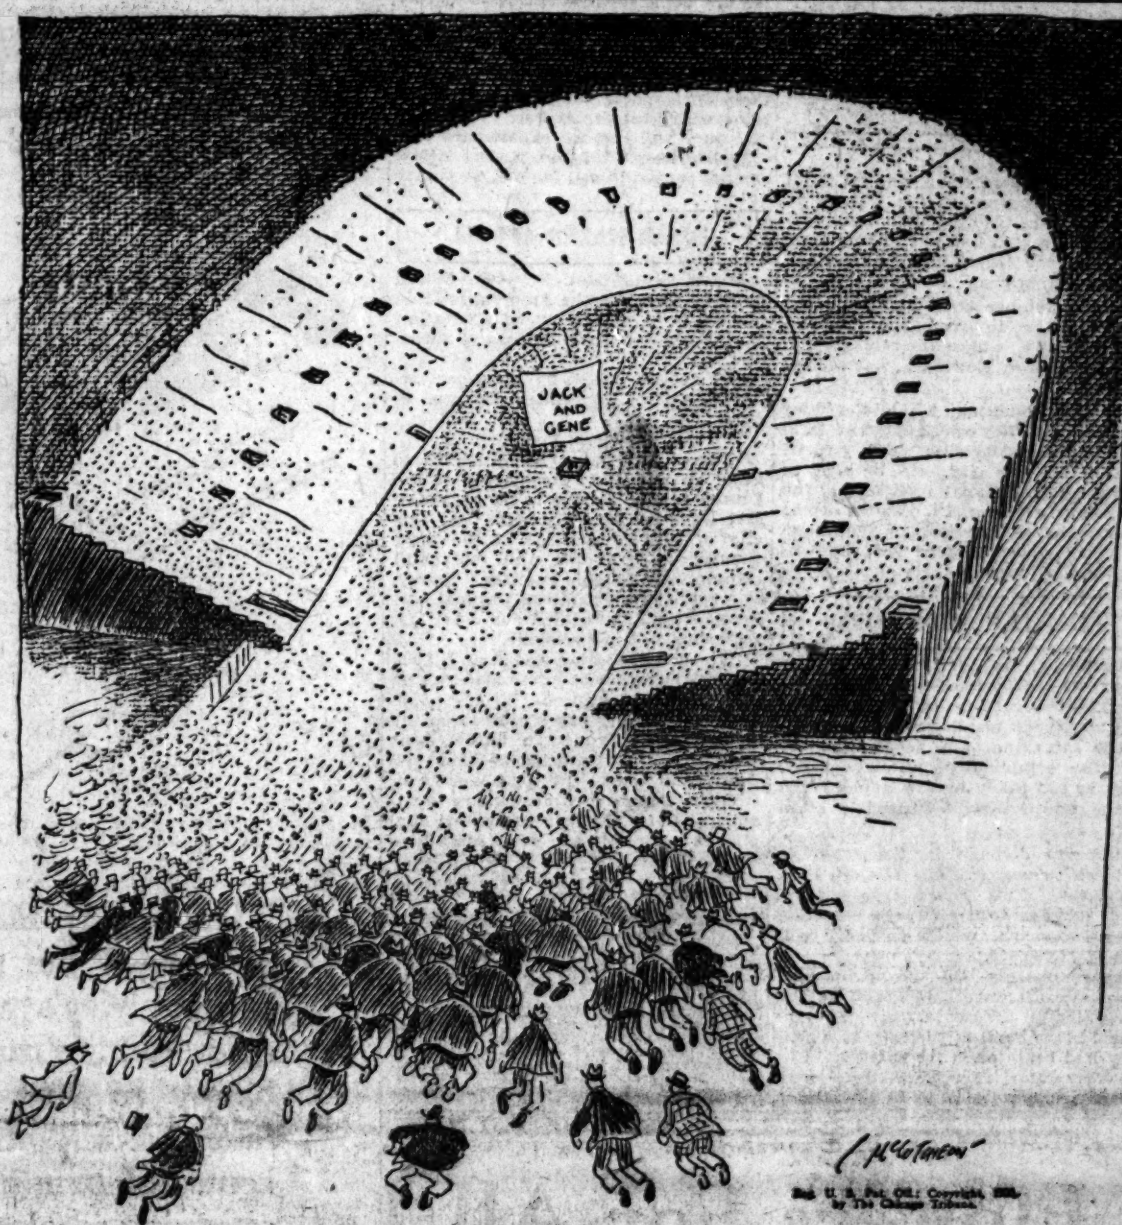

The various suits brought against Dempsey by Jack Kearns, his former manager, have led to the appointment of a temporary receiver for the champion and to his being compelled to put up a heavy bond to guarantee Kearns in case the courts decide that he is still entitled to a share in Dempsey's earnings, but they have failed to head off the fight.

The attacks of E. E. Clements, head of the Chicago Coliseum club, who got an injunction against Dempsey in an attempt to prevent him from fighting in the city, also have failed.

THE MAGNET

AUTUMN STARTS TODAY; WARMER, RAIN BY NIGHT

This is the first day of autumn and the weather man says it will be warmer in Chicago. However, a touch of fall coolness is promised tomorrow. Rain is predicted by tonight, continuing Friday.

Summer ends officially at 2:27 o'clock this afternoon when the sun crosses the equator on its way south. Chicago's summer as a whole has been cooler by several degrees than the average of preceding years of the last decade. Precipitation, on the other hand, was heavier than usual during June and July, below normal in August, and again heavy in September.

June's mean temperature this year was 62.4, compared with 71.8 in 1925. Temperatures in July averaged 71.1 degrees this year, compared with a mean reading of 73 degrees last year. August was chilly and dry, with an average temperature of 72 degrees, as compared with 73.6 degrees last year. To date, this month's daily temperatures have totaled 26 degrees above normal.

Judge Winces on 3d Day of Bread, Water

Hartington, Neb., Sept. 22.—(AP)—After three days of his self-imposed five days' "sentence" on bread and water to "determine if such a diet is harmful and cruel," County Judge W. F. Bryant, 75, foe of liquor law violators in Cedar county, has decided the diet should be given only in "severe cases."

Today the veteran judge admitted it was "a pretty hard job to live on bread and water," although he went about his court business with his usual alacrity and cheerfulness, lunched, and dined on good shares of rye bread and water.

"I get pretty hungry," Judge Bryant told the Associated Press at noon. "At night I dream that I am having a big feast, only to wake up and find my only available food is rye bread and water. I guess ten days is quite a long time to give a prisoner such a diet, but I am going to give it in serious cases of liquor law infraction, as I believe it will bring home to the prisoner what it means to violate the law."

Has Given Diet Terms 14 Years.

Judge Bryant said he has been giving bread and water diet sentences for fourteen years, ranging from three to ten days. He said that any prisoner would starve on a ten days' diet if it was not changed from one kind of bread to another.

"If you take the crust off and feed the prisoner just white bread, he is likely to starve to death on the diet if he is to it for ten straight days," he said. "However, if you give him white bread one day, rye another, and whole wheat and graham the next, he probably will be pinched with hunger, but just enough to make his law infraction acquainted with his stomach."

At present Fred Dirks is the only one held at the Cedar county jail here on the bread and water diet, but Judge Bryant said he would not alter his sentence which calls for sixty days in jail, with every other ten days on the rigid diet.

Will Try Two Days More.

"Dirks is a bad character, and I hope he feels the full effects of his diet for ten days," Judge Bryant said. "We heard some time ago that he was selling liquor to high school students, and the marshal warned him that he would be arrested and placed on a bread and water diet if he did not stop. But he did not. He kept right on and the students continued to be drunk. The situation was serious and he was arrested."

Despite his hunger, Judge Bryant said he would continue on the diet until Friday night.

WHITEMORE AID ARRESTED HERE WITH GEM LOOT

An echo of the activities of the former Whitemore gang, whose leader, Richard Reese Whitemore, was recently hanged in Baltimore, developed yesterday with the arrest here of Robert Berg, also known as Burke and as Benson. Berg, who is said to be a brother of Ollie A. Berg, held in connection with the Illinois Central jewel robbery, was taken into custody at the request of New York police.

With Berg in an apartment at 3201 Winthrop avenue, was a young woman who said she was Ruby Allen and Berg's sweetheart. Several thousand dollars worth of jewelry, believed to come from some of the gang's robberies, was found hidden in the flat. Arraigned before Judge Henry M. Walker, Berg was ordered held in $150,000 bonds pending action of New York authorities.

Queen Bobs for U.S. Trip; Stirs Up Roumania

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Sept. 22.—Queen Marie has bobbed her hair and says she is going to America. She plans to leave here about Oct. 2 and sail on the Leviathan from Cherbourg on Oct. 12. The Roumanian foreign office, which said she was not going some time ago, now declares it has approved the trip. King Ferdinand is not saying anything one way or the other.

American society aspirants with a yearning for royalty are deluging the American legation and consulate here with demands for straight dope on the trip and the possibilities of dating up her majesty for strawberry festivals, fish dinners, and buggy rides.

United States lecture bureaus, newspaper syndicates, moving picture producers, and advertising agencies are cabling and presenting figures that look like Sam Insull's testimony.

Kings Illness May Halt Trip.

In the midst of the excitement of preparedness, postponement of Queen Marie's trip was seriously discussed today owing to the illness of King Ferdinand. The king is staying at the royal palace at Sinaja, where he suffered from a fever for several days.

After a doctors' consultation today it was found necessary to perform a slight operation, owing to a congestion of blood vessels. Unless the king is greatly improved the queen cannot sail on Oct. 12, as scheduled.

Criticized for Shingling Head.

Roumanian officials are worried over the queen's plans and fear if she gets past Ellis Island her reception will be what Lorelei called a "wow" in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. The proposed trip is fast assuming an importance eclipsing the talk of a new Balkan crisis and the Bessarabian question.

When court circles learned the queen had bobbed her hair was generally admitted to have been the finest regal head of golden locks supporting a crown, much criticism was aroused and an alarm was raised in conservative circles. It had been generally believed the queen had successfully survived the shingle craze when she celebrated her fortieth birthday.

Certain vindictive ones declared the queen's haircut meant great loss of dignity and charm to future court ceremonies in Bucharest, due to the fact that the Roumanian queen's jewel studded crown had been made to fit a high court coiffure and would come down too far over the ears if the hair was missing.

King Threatened to Shave?

Current but unconfirmed gossip in Bucharest has it that the king, who where not consulted when the queen had her locks shorn, expressed his royal displeasure, and threatened to retaliate by shaving. This rumor caused a distinct shock because from time immemorial "beavers" have been as necessary to the throne of Roumania as to the couch drop business in America.

The fear that the court jeweler would have to take a tack in the queen's crown was allayed by a subsequent report on the authority of Queen Marie herself that the shorn locks have been carefully salvaged and made into a blonde switch, which will be pinned on in the old time style whenever the sovereign is called upon to wear the royal wardrobe.

The queen's ladies in waiting deny that her bob had anything to do with her desire to make a trip to the land where women first practiced the shingle abbreviation. They insist her majesty prefers short hair as a matter of comfort and has declared herself as never intending to permit her locks to grow full length again. One Bucharest barber shop has moved the queen's picture into the front windows, while the bearded king's portrait occupies the old position on the wall over the cash register.

Mayor Dever says that Chicago was ready to do anything. Health Commissioner Herman Sundeen and E. A. Gorman, a city sanitary engineer, arrived with a corps of doctors and nurses and a supply of chlorine sufficient to take charge of the city water supply for weeks.

Treatment of the water was begun and doctors and nurses were assigned to assist in vaccination to prevent typhoid and for tetanus. Outlying places that have been short of medical help were aided by the Chicago group who came with supplies to take care of themselves.

F. E. Jordan, the man who a year or two ago rushed to Nome, Alaska, with typhoid serum by dog train, arrived here this morning with a supply of serum by airplane and train from Philadelphia.

Years to Restore Beauty.

A trip along the shore and bay to Coconut Grove, home of many millionaires, shows that it will take years perhaps for the city to recover its beauty. From South Miami avenue, Brickell boulevard and beyond Coconut Grove the road has just been cleared of fallen trees. The trees were cut by the wind as though a cyclone had passed through. The boulevard, formerly lined with proud palms, are a mass of tangled tree, boards, pieces of clothing, seaweed and other debris. At Villa Seagrass, where the bay has

Bahamas Report More Deaths.

BULLETIN.

Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Saturday hurricane took a death toll of 17 and injured scores in the Bahamas islands, the Palm Beach Radio company was advised tonight in a direct radio message from Nassau. Bimini suffered the greatest loss with seven dead.

BULLETIN.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Southern Florida, stricken by the hurricane last Saturday and Sunday, is immediately open to a typhoid epidemic, American Red Cross and state board of health officials said today. Drastic steps were taken in two places to prevent a serious outbreak of the disease. The city of Moorehaven and the town of Davie were ordered evacuated, and residents of the two places were being moved to cleaner spots tonight.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—It was along Miami's golden beaches where ocean and bay met in a terrific battle that created a surf inside palatial homes and carried heavy boats a quarter of a mile inland that the greatest property destruction was wrought by the recent storm.

In Hollywood, Miami Beach, Coral Gables, Coconut Grove and for miles along the blue water where the colorful homes of millionaires dot the shores, the scene is one of devastation and a spent fury that seemed to have had no bounds.

The peculiar part of it is that more lives were not lost. Many homes were occupied, although this is not the season for the fashionable world to be here. Sea and hurricane wind acted as a great reaper taking a full harvest of pine trees, the great flowering Australian pine.

Asks Outside Help.

Looking this situation over after the first feverish clearing of the city proper, the care of dead and wounded, and a quick return to something approaching normalcy downtown, Miami decided officially today to ask the outside world for help. The people are proud of their magic city, and the hammers of the workmen are busy all over the town in the task of repairing and rebuilding. Not even the new work has been halted.

But the arrival of Henry M. Baker, national Red Cross disaster expert, today led to a conference at which a relief plan was worked out for all of Florida. It will take many millions. Mayor E. C. Romfh sent out a proclamation urging all citizens to cooperate with the Red Cross gins to bend into the sea, the storms hit the hardest. The old home of William Jennings Bryan still stands in good condition, but the trees and yard where the commoner walked and dreamed are a mass of wreckage.

Deering Garden a Wreck.

The James Deering estate down the road, a huge property and perhaps the show place of Florida, has been reduced to a primitive jungle, so far as planning is concerned. The buildings are still standing. The beautiful Italian garden, with its priceless statuary is a wreck. The road near here is blocked by boats, some of them large dredges carrying lumber and machinery, which were washed up by the storm.

The home of Vance W. Helm, formerly of Chicago, is along here. Mr. Helm was working with his men to get the debris left by the sea and storm out of the house. The water rushed into the house to a depth of 5 or 6 feet, carrying driftwood and debris, which were washed up by the storm.

The home of W. L. Sloan across the street was crashed. Mr. Sloan swam through the storm to his family, and arrived to see the roof fly away. The Edward M. Patterson home, the L. E. Kloter home and others were drenched and half submerged by sea and rain. Along the beaches the furniture and carpets and bedding are out in the sun drying. Further down the road is the home of George Whitmer, of St. Louis. This pink palace is built along the edge of water and received full blast of the storm, but withstood it and all the family were inside.

Home During Storm.

At Cutler, 12 miles from here, is the home of the Charles Deering. It was learned at the James Deering estate today that while the Charles Deering house and grounds were badly damaged, no one was injured. The Charles Deering, it was said, were home during the storm, but were uninjured.

This is the story all along the line where homes were of the Charles Deering. The persons killed, now officially said to be 94, were almost all of them caught out in the storm, walking or in automobiles or in boats.

Hollywood, and Miami Beach were the worst damaged of Miami's suburbs. The death list in Hollywood was 34 and the known dead in Miami Beach is 12.

Coral Gables suffered less loss than any town in this district.

HUGE PROPERTY LOSS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.] With the National Red Cross firmly in control of the situation, the work of rescue and relief in the hurricane swept sections of Florida and the Gulf coast west to Mississippi is moving apace.

Pensacola, Mobile, and Miami, with whom direct communication only recently has been established, since the week-end storm, all report enormous property damage, actually worse than first unofficial reports indicated. The American Automobile association, which has conducted a survey, stated property loss in south Florida alone was between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000.

Other estimates did not place the figure so high, but insurance agents figuring claim damage said Greater Miami alone suffered $60,000,000 destruction. This figure also includes yachts and scores of smaller craft.

Watch Gale Wreck Miami from Tower of Skyscraper

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22.—(AP)—All night Saturday a small group of newspapermen in the tower of the Miami Daily News worked feverishly at telephones warning Miami of the approaching hurricane. The building was plunged into darkness before the telephones failed.

Then the storm raged in full fury. The dredge, Savannah, anchored in the harbor, played a searchlight on the hundreds of boats which foundered in the seas and finally were driven on the beach. The newspapermen watched the disaster. Before them unfolded one of the greatest stories in Florida's history, and they were powerless to give the news to the world.

With the lull in the storm, the streets quickly filled with people. They thought the storm was over and laughed at the newspapermen who tried to warn them. There were men, women and children, clad in bathing suits, skirting the beach to get a view of the damage to docks and craft. Suddenly out of the southeast the storm veered back with increasing fury. It came with a deafening roar and with it a big wave rushed upon Miami. Many of the sightseers sought shelter too late.

For two hours the storm raged. Waves pounded against the tower. Now and then a craft, scurrying before the waves, hit its walls, veered off and went back into the sea, never to rise again.

There was the Nancy Lee and the Black Gold, the Jacksonville and the Rosy Ann. Suddenly the Nancy Lee was spinning like a top and then she was gone with the captain and the crew. The former Kaiser's yacht Nahab, its crew refusing to get off during the lull, broke in two and disappeared.

Again there came a lull in the storm. Again the sirens of ambulances screamed along the streets. One rushed down Biscayne boulevard at full speed only to hit a hole. There was a sharp impact, a crash of glass, and the dead and injured were thrown into the sea. Water came at last to find a prostrate and isolated city. R. P. Mitchell of the Associated Press and Reese Amis of the Miami News volunteered to go for help.

"Go, boys, God we need it," was the message pounding in their ears as they left the tower. Then hours of waiting. Mitchell and Amis got through.

A truck with a West Palm Beach sign on it came thundering into Miami. It brought food. Then came the soldiers and the sailors—and the ambulances with the injured from the outlying districts and trucks with the first of the dead.

DRY OFFICIALS TURN DOWN PLEA OF STORM VICTIMS FOR WHISKY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Prohibition officials indicated today that the Florida relief workers would have to do without the whisky they asked for yesterday in an appeal to the country.

James Jones, prohibition commissioner, pointed out that interstate shipment of nonmedicinal liquor was strictly forbidden by federal law, and gave it as his opinion that the Florida state laws prohibited distribution of even medicinal liquor. Assistant Secretary Andrews would only say that the appeal of the Sebring chamber of commerce for relief workers had not reached him.

known dead had not been compiled last night, but rescuers said the total would exceed 400. As isolated colonies were reached in the everglades and elsewhere, the number of injured was gradually increased until the total had mounted to around 6,000.

Likewise the total of the homeless passed the 50,000 mark, with special trains, automobiles, and trucks being pressed into service to move them to nearby cities for shelter and care. A survey of sanitary conditions has been started by Dr. J. H. Linson of the United States public health service.

$4,000,000 FOR FLORIDA ASKED BY RED CROSS

Many Injured to Require Extended Treatment.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—At least $4,000,000, and probably $5,000,000, will be required by the Red Cross for the relief of refugees in the hurricane stricken districts of Florida. It was announced tonight by John Barton Payne, chairman of the organization, after a preliminary survey of the needs indicated in the reports of field workers now on the scene.

Approximately $1,000,000 already has been contributed throughout the country, but this amount, Mr. Payne declares, is not nearly adequate, in view of the fact that as many as 50,000 people are homeless in addition to the at least 4,000 dead.

In Miami alone, he says, 1,200 persons are in the regular hospitals and 150 in emergency hospitals, 500 of them with major fractures and many more with lesser fractures. This type of injury will require expert care and extended hospitalization, if the victims are not to be crippled for life, he points out.

MIAMI MAKES APPEAL

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Miami appealed today to the American people for funds to aid in its rehabilitation after the disastrous hurricane of Saturday.

The appeal, issued by the storm relief executive committee follows, in part:

"To the American People: The city of Miami is compelled to issue an appeal to the people of the United States for the relief of Miami and Dade county. Six days ago this city of 200,000 was one of the most prosperous beautiful and delightful communities in this country. Today, as a result of a disastrous tropical hurricane which devastated our coast last Saturday it lies prostrate.

"We have 10,000 dead and nearly 1,000 patients in hospitals, hundreds of whom are grievously injured. While conditions are being rapidly restored by means of most wonderful and efficient cooperation of its citizens along all important lines, the problems confronting them are almost insurmountable. Food and other necessary supplies are coming in in great quantities.

But more than 5,000 homes have been either entirely destroyed or made unfit for human habitation. Twenty-five thousand people have been made homeless. These are being cared for in thousands of instances by neighbors who themselves are suffering. Miami needs money quickly and in large amounts.

$60,000,000 LOSS; MIAMI INSURANCE ABOUT $6,000,000

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22.—(AP)—G. C. Stember, general agent for fifteen insurance companies, said today that property loss in Greater Miami amounts to more than $60,000,000. The companies he represents are expected to pay $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 to cover losses due to the storm.

The money represents between 10 and 12 per cent of the total value of improved real estate in the Miami area, Stember said. Only 5 per cent of the property insured against fire was also insured against winds.

Insured for $6,500,000.

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Ernest Stember, chairman of the Continental Insurance company, in a statement carried by a Wall street ticker service today, estimated that insurance companies will have to pay approximately $6,500,000 for losses in the Florida storm. Mr. Stember estimated that the total liability insurance in effect in the entire state of Florida does not exceed $88,000,000. This is divided among 144 companies, he asserted.

REFUGEES TELL FLORIDA GALE'S TERRORS, PRANKS

Letter Tells of Roofs Hurled About Streets.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Chicago, by telegraph, letter, and personal anecdote, yesterday drew from the storm devastated area in Florida.

One of the first and most vivid letters to reach this city is the message from Miss Helen Middlehurst of the Westrop Beach hotel received last night from Dale Cox, state editor of the Miami Herald.

Written Sunday night, it tells how the storm came up about 8 o'clock Friday night and continued with increasing velocity until 3 in the morning when a terrific gale blew.

About 4 o'clock the doors and windows were broken and the rain poured in sheets. There were no lights, and we were kept busy dodging broken glass.

Water-Halls Bus Trip.

"At 5 there was a lull. That was a lull, but not being accustomed to the ways of hurricanes, I started to go to bed. I was able to walk along the beach, by bending my body far forward. I boarded a bus and it made a slow way through the street. A block from the Miami river bridge a torrent of water stopped us and we turned west on Flagler street.

"Every minute we thought the bus would turn over. Not a building had any glass in it. I saw a huge steel structure twisted. Trees were falling all about us. Whole roofs slide-swiped to bits.

"Finally making his way into a fire station, Mr. Cox stayed there for several hours. The rain, by this time, was beating into a fine mist, and 'if you look your hand out into the rain it felt like a million needles.'

Women became hysterical. Men had been in the war said, 'they'd have a month in the trenches and go through another hour of this.'

Good Work in Bathing Suit.

By noon Saturday Mr. Cox was able to go to his apartment, gather up a few dry candles, and try to get warm and then, salvage some cookies, and go to work in a bathing suit.

Despite tragic and grotesque piled up side by side, the newspaper man sits out, and cites the instance of the Miami hospital, where the roof was torn off the maternity ward.

The men and babies were hurriedly moved to another section of the hospital. Just about as soon as they were made comfortable, the roof was blown off that wing of the building.

Therapies, though still delayed some times to eighteen hours because the Western Union had to rely only on a single great out of West Palm Beach, arrived yesterday by the hundreds, carrying messages of reassurance to Chicago friends and relatives of storm survivors.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick of Wheaton received a wire from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deering, who are at their Florida home in Cutler, fifteen miles south of Miami. The message reported them safe and well.

Postmaster General Neill, in Chicago yesterday, ordered postmasters and inspectors in Florida to utilize postal facilities to the utmost in assisting relief and rescue work.

Fear for Missing Friends.

As yesterday's revised death lists came in over the wires, they brought copies from many Chicagoans with friends or friends in the vicinity of Miami.

For instance, John Carpenter, 1443 East 4th street, fears that the man, known as Rogers, first name unknown, died at the Jackson Memorial hospital, is an old family friend, one Lyman C. Rogers, former Chicago attorney.

Harold C. Smith, 538 South Dearborn street, was dismayed to find an E. G. Smith, listed among the dead at Moorehaven. His brother, named Emory C. Smith, was at Moorehaven just before the storm, and has not been heard of since.

W. T. Shaw of Rogers Park has not heard from his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shaw at Miami. He is fearful that the name, Mrs. Minnie Shaw, carried in the injured list from Miami, may be Mrs. Edwin Shaw.

CIVIC FUND FOR FLORIDA RELIEF REACHES $25,139

$13,510 Gifts in a Day; Telegram Tells Needs.

With scores of agencies aiding in the work, Chicago's municipal fund for relief in the Florida hurricane area mounted at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to $25,139.47, which was available in cash and checks at the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross, 614 South Michigan avenue. The total of gifts received during the day was $13,510.47.

The greater part of this amount represented the collections of the fifty-five teams of the Association of Commerce trade divisions. Some was sent in by private messengers, some was received through the mails, and some came from radio stations and newspapers which have been assisting with the collections.

$5,000 Harvester Gift.

At the head of the list for the day was the International Harvester company, which forwarded a check for $5,000. Employees of Albert Pick & Co. sent in $1,113.87. Felt-Tarrant Manufacturing company gave $500. The Florsheim shoe company and the Equipment Specialties company donated $250 each.

Checks for $300 each were received from Tyler & Hippach, the Clinton, Wis., chapter of the Red Cross, George T. Hoffman, A. M. Castle & Co., and Sharson, Hamill & Co.

On the $100 list were the names of Walter E. Heller & Co., Walter Todd & Co., A. E. Barnhart, Argo Corn Plant Lunch room, W. S. Leeds, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wilder, Stromberg, Allen & Co., Sterling company, Athey Truss Wheel company, Abdenpost company, Amalgamated Roofing company, Edwards & Deutsch Lithographing company, C. J. Need of Relief Told.

A Miami telegram from Col. H. F. Miller of the Association of Commerce reached here yesterday during a meeting of the relief fund committee at 10 South La Salle street, in which the collector told of the pressing need of relief measures.

"We'll take care of Florida first, and then, with the aid of the Lord, we'll take care of the Salvation Army," John F. Gilchrist, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company and chairman of the army's annual home service appeal, told his workers at a luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Sherman, where the chairman of the trade groups had their first get-together meeting.

C. Fred Yegge, president of the Florida Club of Chicago, presided at a luncheon yesterday at the Mid-day club at which it was voted to raise a fund of at least $1,000 to care for Chicagoans now in Florida.

The Chicago Board of Trade Florida relief committee yesterday elected Frank G. Coe chairman. The other members are L. F. Gates, J. S. Brown, G. W. Hales, and J. C. Murray.

WOMAN FAINTS ON PIER, FALLS IN LAKE, SAVED

Victim of a fainting spell as she stood on a pier at the foot of Greenwood street, Evanston, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Catherine J. Bennett, 55 years old, fell into three feet of water and probably would have drowned had not her daughter, Miss Martha Bennett, waded into the lake and dragged her to shore.

Mrs. Bennett, who is the wife of Nelson J. Bennett, insurance dealer, had left her home at 1413 Judson avenue, Evanston, for a walk. She is subject to the fainting spells, according to her husband, and was suddenly seized by one as she stood on the pier. Her daughter, who was some distance away, rescued her before coast guards nearby could arrive at the scene. Mrs. Bennett was revived by police.

WAUKEGAN BANK DEPOSITORS HELD SAFE FROM LOSS

Stockholders Expected to Be Out $500,000.

Assurance was given last night to depositors of the Security Savings bank of Waukegan, Ill., closed yesterday by State Auditor Oscar Nelson, that not a dollar would be lost by them. The stockholders, however, will lose an estimated $500,000, according to Attorney J. A. Miller, who is one of the largest share owners.

Attorney Miller and Joseph Meyer, wholesale tobacco and candy dealer, are admitted the owners of a controlling block of the stock. They obtained the national conference of the United Jewish campaign on the distributing of relief amounting to $61,000,000. The conference is to be held in Chicago on Oct. 9 and 10.

Dr. Kahn said that had it not been for the $2,500,000 campaign now being conducted, the Jews of Poland, Russia, eastern and central Europe, would have sunk to depths from which it would have taken decades and unlimited money to have rescued them.

As an example of the value of the money recently sent to Poland, he said that an epidemic of scarletina had broken out there and $5,000 was spent the week before he left Warsaw for New York in taking measures to combat the disease.

Loans Revealed by Books.

An examination of the books by Chief State Bank Examiner E. E. Nicholson revealed that Miller had borrowed $42,000 from the bank, that his law partner, Attorney Herr, had obtained $21,000 on his note, and that Theodore Blech, vice president of the bank and manager of the Waukegan branch of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, obtained $15,000 from the bank.

It was also disclosed that Miller, Herr, and Blech had obtained an additional $37,000 from the Security funds as the Waukegan Finance corporation.

Attorney Miller said last night that these loans were not unusual or irregular and were in no way responsible for the closing of the bank.

Denies County Asked Funds.

One reason advanced for the closing of the bank was that County Treasurer Ira E. Pearsall of Lake county had made a demand for the $580,000 of county funds on deposit in the Security. He said bondsman had directed him to transfer the funds to another depository, it was said, but the Security bank was unable to turn over to him that amount in cash.

Attorney Miller said the treasurer did not make a demand for the county money, but that if he had he could not have received it, because that sum was not available. The lawyer stated that years ago the late President Durst had started the custom of loaning the county's deposits "over the counter" instead of converting them into liquid assets.

That practice, Attorney Miller explained, made it necessary for the bank to borrow money every fall to repay the county and to tide the bank over until taxes were collected in the spring. It was a bad system, he admitted, but the present management had followed the plan because it couldn't help itself.

The deposits in the Security bank were listed as $3,122,758 on July 6. There have been steady withdrawals since then, Miller said, and yesterday the liabilities were placed at $2,800,000 and the assets were scaled down from $3,000,000 to about $2,300,000.

DEMOCRATS HIT ADMINISTRATION ON TWO ISSUES

See Laugh in Prosperity Talk; Urge New Tax Cut

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Democratic managers assailed the Coolidge administration today on two of the issues on which their party is making its bid for control of the house and senate in the approaching congressional elections.

Representative Oldfield (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, predicted the election of a Democratic congress, which, he said, "will be a mandate to the government for another tax cut that not even the Coolidge administration can afford to ignore."

Cites Depression in Two Fields.
Senator Gerry (Dem., R. I.), chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, contrasted the administration's vaunting of national prosperity with the depression in agriculture and the textile industry, and voiced his reliance on the farmers and workmen to transfer the control of congress from the Republicans to the Democrats.

Mr. Oldfield, who is a member of the ways and means committee, branded Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's opposition to another tax reduction at the next session inconsistent with his attitude last session, when he held that a $300,000,000 tax cut was warranted by the visible surplus. The Democrats, Mr. Oldfield asserted, demanded a $500,000,000 cut and managed to boost it to $245,000,000.

Sees $500,000,000 Surplus.
"Now it develops," Mr. Oldfield said, "that instead of a deficit, which the administration financiers professed to fear, there remains for the fiscal year 1926 a surplus of approximately $377,000,000 and for the year 1927 there will be a surplus of $145,000,000 and possibly more, or a total of more than $500,000,000."

"How the secretary, favoring the last tax reduction on the ground that the treasury would have a surplus of $300,000,000, can now oppose any further reduction, when the treasury will have a surplus of nearly double that sum, can be explained in no other way than that he and his chief wish to defer any further relief to the taxpayers until the eve of the 1928 presidential campaign, so they can claim credit for it."

"If the Democratic party were in power at the present time," Senator Gerry said, "the Republican press and Republican politicians would be saying every day that the bad times in agriculture and the grave depression in the textile industry were due to a Democratic tariff and Democratic ineptitude for government. Instead of which, they are talking loudly about a wonderful prosperity that does not exist and whistling to keep up their courage."

"The Republican party has had control of the government for six years and has been able to have the best minds of the nation in the cabinet. Not counting those that are under indictment or being tried, the rest have had ample opportunity of working out constructive legislation. A super-Republican tariff bill has been passed. But for some unexplained reason prosperity has not come to him."

Predicts Soup Kitchens.
"The textile industry is in a serious depression. Mills are closed or are running on half time, and we may expect soup kitchens next winter if the unemployment continues. The farmer is demanding and redemanding consideration of his welfare and some constructive legislation that will enable him to make both ends meet. He knows that the administration has looked after big business and ignored his interest. His protest will be loudly voiced at the polls in November."

"The people are sick of inefficiency and the lack of definite policies in the present administration. They realize that an attitude of doing nothing cannot remedy present conditions and they are turning to the Democracy for the intellectual ability and the moral courage that is needed to handle the present crisis."

CICERO TO SHOW WORLD THAT IT DISDAINS GUNMEN

Pastor Heads Drive to Clear Town's Name.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

A counter offensive will be started in Cicero to counteract the reputation of the village as the resort of bootleggers and gunmen.

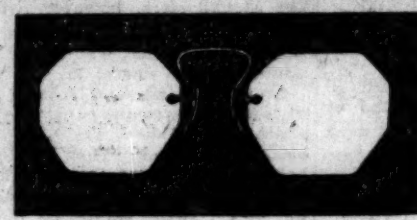

The Rev. W. L. Clapp, pastor of the Clyde Methodist Episcopal church, 28th avenue and 56th street, in Cicero, declared yesterday the matter would be taken up in the Rotary club and other organizations and, if necessary, a press representative would be hired to show the world that Cicero is a place of homes, good citizens, church folks and other respectables. It will show also, he said, that whatever gunmen and bootleggers there are come from Chicago just as the bad men of other days used to migrate to Canada, from the United States in order to escape from the clutches of the law.

Jokes All Over U. S.
"This exploitation of Cicero has gone so far that the town is made the butt of jokes everywhere," he said. "It was reported that in a meeting the people who came from Chicago, then from Cook county, Ill., and the United States were each called to rise and finally the question was asked, 'Anybody here from outside of the United States rise?' and a man from Cicero got up. A paper came from Panama, and in it was the statement, 'We have the jungle down here, but you have Cicero up there.'"

"Well, the Cicero worm has turned. I have been a pastor in Cicero seven years and have received into the church 400 and my salary has been increased until it is two and a half times as much as when I came here. Other churches are doing good work. Schools are flourishing. The schools, libraries, and other helpful institutions are flourishing. Our taxes are lower than in Chicago and we get more for the service. We are tired of being made the dumping ground of Chicago's law breakers and of being accused of every kind of ill just because we have been made the victims of some violators. Andy Gump's 'Paradise Vista' will not compare with Cicero for fine homes."

GERMANY JOYFUL AS FIRST FRENCH TROOPS MOVE OUT

5,000 May Quit Rhine by End of Month.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Although the Stresemann-Briand rapprochement is still in the making, Germany was overjoyed today over reports that the first detachments of French troops had quit the Rhineland.
Before the month of September is over, it is said, at least 5,000, and probably 6,000, French troops will be withdrawn, thus relieving the Germans of the burden and preparing for a complete evacuation, which will result from the present negotiations.
Foreign Minister Stresemann, who returns to Berlin tomorrow, is prepared to fight the reactionary Nationalist and extremist communists, who are opposing the Franco-German negotiations.

EXPERTS TO AID FRANCE

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, Sept. 22.—Negotiations tending toward a culmination of the agreement envisaged by Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany and Foreign Minister Briand of France at Thoiry will be continued along lines recommended by an experts' committee to be named shortly, THE TRIBUNE learns from the French foreign office.
The labors of this committee will be aimed to reconcile the German demands with the French refusal to surrender certain definite benefits, along with withdrawals from the Rhineland and Saar, which already have been conceded. The committee's work will be conducted entirely in the open and the Belgian and British governments will be kept advised of its progress.
Overlook Stresemann's Speech.
The French officials are not perturbed by Herr Stresemann's comments at the Geneva banquet, declaring he said nothing which had not been said previously by his predecessors or by himself, and the speech contained nothing to raise new questions. The only passage which seemed to stir any ire among the French diplomats was that in which Herr Stresemann denied Germany's war responsibilities, but even this did not draw any response.
The cabinet council meets Thursday, but it is not likely that the experts' committee will be appointed until next week, as M. Briand is expected to be absent.
Premier Poincare on Monday will begin his big drive to square his administration with the French public before the resumption of the meeting of parliament, which threatens to bring trouble. While there is some agitation to summon parliament early, it is not expected it will assemble before Oct. 23.

FINDS HIS WIFE WITH CLASSMATE IN RAID ON FLAT

When they parted as classmates at Northwestern university graduation exercises in 1923 William O. Jeffery Jr. and Martin J. Carney Jr. swore eternal friendship. They met again for the first time yesterday when Jeffery, now secretary of the International Refining and Manufacturing company, raided an apartment at 809 Judson avenue.

Evanson, and found his wife, Mrs. Helen Jeffery, with Carney, who is an official of the Bell Telephone company.

Jeffery is estranged from his wife, who recently brought suit for divorce through her attorney, Charles E. Erbstein, charging cruelty. She later withdrew the suit, but was not reconciled to her husband.

Police and private detectives accompanied Jeffery on the raid, but no arrests were made. The raid was made for the purpose of gathering divorce evidence, Jeffery said.

COURT STATES TO DEBATE ON REPLY TO THE U.S. TODAY

America to Be Equal with League Members.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
GENEVA, Sept. 22.—The states members of the world court will meet in a plenary session tomorrow to consider final action on the drafting committee's report on the reply to the United States with regard to America's reservations to entrance into the world court and the protocol covering the terms for America's entrance.

The protocol, as framed by the committee, accepts the first three American reservations outright.

Terms of Protocol.
The protocol, adopted by the drafting committee today consists of eight articles. It includes the following provisions:

American participation on a basis of equality in all meetings of the league of nations council or assembly for the election of world court judges; no amendment of the court statute may be made without America's consent; the court shall give all advisory opinions in public sessions; the method of the United States consent to the rendering of an advisory opinion by the court, as provided in the fifth reservation, shall be agreed on by the United States government and the league council; the court protocol shall become effective when it has been ratified by all the signatory states, including the United States and deposited with the league; other signatories, by a two-thirds majority, may withdraw their acceptance of the protocol if it does not achieve the desired end.

In regard to the fifth reservation, the protocol offers the United States all the rights enjoyed by members of the

EDISON, INVENTOR OF PHONOGRAPH, TAKES A SLAM AT THE RADIO

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The radio is a commercial failure and its popularity with the public is waning, Thomas A. Edison said today. The inventor in no uncertain terms put the great American indoor sport in its place.

Radio, esthetically "distorted," is losing its grip rapidly on the market and in the home, he said.

"There isn't 10 per cent of the interest in radio that there was last year."

"It's a highly complicated machine in the hands of people who know nothing about it."
"No dealers have made any money out of it. It isn't a commercial machine, because it is complicated. Reports from 4,000 Edison dealers who have handled radios show that they are rapidly abandoning it."

And as for its music:
"It's awful—I don't see how they can listen to it."
"The people want good music," he said. "The phonograph is coming back into its own, because the people want good music."

league, and suggests that the method whereby the United States may exercise these rights be "the subject of a special understanding between the United States government and the council of the league of nations."

Gibson Jars Arms Parley.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 22.—(A)—The statement by Hugh Gibson, American minister to Switzerland, that the military disarmament commission has been giving political consideration to questions on which its technical advice alone had been asked stirred the league of nations' preparatory disarmament conference commission today.

Mr. Gibson also charged that the military commissioners had a tendency to limit their reports to majority opinions, failing to give proper importance to the divergent views expressed.

He moved that they be requested to answer questions, uninfluenced by military or economic considerations, and to revise the answers already made so they would be exclusively technical.

REINDEER CAUGHT IN NILES CENTER; DIES OF WOUND

A 600 pound reindeer which had been seen wandering near Niles Center for the last two weeks was cornered near the Oakton street elevated station and captured last night by Chief of Police Robert Bowman with the help of four bystanders. The reindeer was found to be suffering from a head wound which caused its death in spite of the efforts of a veterinarian to save it. The animal is believed to have wandered from some animal preserve. The nearest preserve is the Ogden Armour tract at Lake Forest.

Roscoe Andrews, Ex-Dry Chief, Seized as Speeder

Attorney Roscoe Andrews, 1131 Hyde Park boulevard, former prohibition chief here, was arrested Tuesday night. It was learned late yesterday, on a charge of speeding. He was accused of racing another car driven by Paul Rudnick Jr., 18 years old, between 75th and 76th streets on Stony Island avenue. The boy's father, who was with his son, and Andrews will be arraigned Sept. 28 in the Grand Cross-ing court.

CANADA SEEKS ALLIES TO CURB MOTHER BRITAIN

New Premier May Dodge Empire Conference.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 22.—Canada's attitude toward the London imperial conference tonight overshadows all other political issues. This is due to the announcement that Henry Bourassa, nationalist leader of Canada, will visit Desmond Fitzgerald of the Irish Free State before going to the empire conference.

Following his talks with the Irish leaders Mr. Bourassa will cross to London and meet Premier Herbert, of South Africa. The meetings between Messrs. Bourassa, Fitzgerald and Herbert will have to do with the drafting of certain resolutions involving changes in the dominions' constitutions. It is hoped by the Canadian Liberals that Canada, South Africa, and the Irish Free State will stand united in backing these demands in the imperial conference sessions. They also are expected to act together in insisting upon certain limitations on the functions of the king's representative in a dominion and in defending of the independent political status of the dominions.

Want MacKenzie King to Attend.
Conservative leaders of parliament announce they are willing to give the incoming MacKenzie King Liberal government every possible cooperation and speed up parliamentary proceedings in order to allow the new prime minister to be Canada's representative at the empire conference.

While it has been stated in semi-official circles that Mr. King will not attend the imperial conference, the Liberal leader has never said he will not go.

Some Conservative chiefs assert Mr. King is seeking to avoid attendance unless he does attend or sends a man of equal status, such as the minister of justice, they are of the opinion that the disintegration of the British empire is in sight.

BRITAIN IS WORRIED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—Downing street and the colonial office are seriously perturbed by the unexpected change in the Canadian government due to the victory of the Liberals in the recent election. They fear it will react unfavorably on the policies to be proposed at the coming imperial conference.

The return of MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberals, as premier has thrown a monkey wrench into the machinery and upset the British plans to keep Canada from joining South Africa in the claim for equal status with the mother country. The situation is more embarrassing for the British government now because Mr. King is silent as to whether he will attend the empire conference, which is only a month distant.

Other Delegations on Way.
However, Downing street asserts its intention of going on with the conference whether Canada is represented by the premier or not. It cannot do otherwise, because the delegations from South Africa, and other dominions already are en route. That makes the

M'CRACKEN STARTS SURVEY OF U. S. AIR TRANSPORT FACILITIES

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The department of commerce is undertaking a survey of air transportation. William P. MacCracken Jr., assistant secretary of commerce, announced today. He outlined activities under the air commerce act of 1926, which he described as "the legislative corner stone for the development of civil aeronautics in America."

The survey is being conducted with particular reference to the existing commercial carriers, and with a view to determining the commercial possibilities and the operating methods which are necessary to place such operations on a sound economic basis.

Pointing out that all civil airway flying is now done in summer daylight hours, except for a portion of the government operated route between Cheyenne and New York, MacCracken declared that the economical use of the airplane demands flying by night as well as by day and in all weathers.

He said the more embarrassing situation only the more embarrassing and prevents all ideas of a postponement.

From authoritative sources THE TRIBUNE learns the imbroglio between Great Britain and certain dominions has been given much more serious turn as the result of the Canadian elections. This arises out of two groupings or dominions, one of which insists on a closer relationship with Great Britain. These include Australia and New Zealand, which have the Japanese problem and need British protection. The second group, led by South Africa and Ireland, is insistent in its demands for more independence and equality with England in the comity of nations.

Seek Backing for Locarno Pacts.
Ever since the conservative cabinet in England decided to hold the meeting this autumn, an attempt has been made to secure unanimity on imperial problems, such as membership of the dominions in the league council and dominion relationship with the mother country in respect to the Locarno pacts.

For some time open evidence of the dislike of what the Locarno treaties might entail has been noticeable in certain dominions. The failure of Sir Austen Chamberlain to support the candidacy of Canada or Ireland when seats in the council of the league of nations were increased has widened the breach and emphasized how Great Britain is following the old traditional policy of monopolizing the direction of the empire's foreign policy.

Report Youth Indicted for Attack on Girls

Albert Pike, 25 years old, Bellwood, was reported to have been indicted by the county grand jury yesterday in connection with criminal attacks upon two young Chicago girls in the forest preserve region skirting the Des Plaines river two weeks ago. Pike is alleged to have made a confession following his arrest. Two other youths are still being sought. The girls preferring the charges are: Lavinia Leader, 15, 4211 North Crawford avenue; and Gertrude Solt, 17, 4952 Kinzie street.

Italy's New Ocean Liner Starts on Maiden Voyage

ROME, Sept. 22.—The Roma, Italy's newest ocean liner, left Naples today on its maiden voyage to New York. Gen. Umberto Nobile, who accompanied Capt. Amundsen over the north pole, Italian ship designer, was aboard en route to Japan.

CAL THE SILENT GIVES VIEWS ON THIS AND THAT

and financial reports. I have very little time for current fiction. I much prefer biography and history. Of the books of the Bible, I have found the writings of St. Paul the most interesting to me.

I asked whether he had any favorite character in history.
"It is difficult for me to visualize a favorite historical character," he answered. "Men have so many different angles. To me, however, Washington rather more completely holds that position than any other. Very close to him would come Lincoln. But all of the great figures who have been men of accomplishment are interesting, some as soldiers, some as statesmen, some as teachers. I doubt if there is any greatest man."

World Gets Better.

"Does your reading of history and the inside view you are now getting of history in the making give you the feeling that the world is growing better?"
"Assuredly," he said. "The standards of society have been constantly rising and the standards of commercial and industrial life are undoubtedly higher than they have ever before been."

"Of course, the increase in wealth in this country has been phenomenal. When I hear it said that the boys who are born into well-to-do homes are handicapped by that fact, I do not agree. The only handicap that wealth gives to boys is in removing the necessity for hard work. Nobody accomplishes anything in this world unless he works. There is no reason why a boy who had parents who are able to support him and meet the expenses of his education should not work."

"I should hate to think that for one generation to be a success was a necessary handicap on the succeeding generation. It is my opinion that if a careful survey were made, it would reveal that fully as large a proportion of boys that come from well-to-do families make a success as those who have come from families that were oppressed by poverty."

Who Has Best Chance?

"A good many books have been written to prove that the country boy has a better chance than the city boy," I suggested. "Do you think that is true, and do you think that luck plays a considerable part in every successful career?"

"I do not believe the country boy has any advantage over the city boy, except that he may have to work harder, and doubtless the city boy has advantages which compensate for this. As for luck, I do not think that it is much of a factor in the success of men."

"There is a question that has occurred to me many times," I said. "The President obtains high office by political preference through one of the great parties. But he is inaugurated as the chief representative of all the people. He campaigns as a partisan. How is he able to lay aside this partisanship when inducted into office?"
"It is not difficult," the President replied. "The atmosphere of the White House does not lend itself to petty partisan decisions. Of course, I am a thorough believer in the principles of my own political party. But to suppose that any great political party is the sole repository of all the knowledge and all the wisdom of the country would be arrogant bigotry.

"It is the duty of the President to serve the whole people. A narrow party bias is a distinct handicap to any person in the discharge of the functions of public office. My vacation has done me a lot of good," he continued. "I am in first class physical condition. And while the work of the executive increases every year, it is not beyond the capacity of a man to discharge."

Why Presidents Break Down.

"Presidents are broken down by outside enterprises. Traveling about the country, making speeches, undertaking to furnish inspiration and leadership for all good causes in the land are some of them. Then, again, the President ought to perform no details that can be turned over to subordinates. It is a good plan to let the members of the cabinet handle their departments. I try to remember that there is only one ex-President living."

"But there must be times when the work becomes very irksome," I said. "There are times when I am answered. 'In that respect the President of the United States is no different from any other citizen. When I was a boy at home I wanted to do something else besides work on the farm. But this disposition has still followed me a good deal through all the changes I have experienced, and even now. Mrs. Coolidge and I say to each other sometimes that we wish we could go home. From this I have come to the conclusion that in whatever position we may find ourselves, other people are not any better off than we are. We only think they are. Contentment is a very difficult lesson for Americans to learn."

"What will you do when you leave office?"
"I have never given any thought to that. I have a farm in Vermont on which I feel confident I could support myself and my family. My old law office is in Northampton. I am, therefore, not worried about the future."

"But there must be some pretty big worries in the present. Do they interfere with your sleep?"
"I have never had any trouble about going to sleep. But unsolved problems wake me up early in the morning."

Women in Politics.
"Women can vote and hold office now, and some of them are beginning to look on politics as a possible career. What do you think of it?" I asked.

"If a girl wishes to fit herself for a political career, I think the best thing she can do is to get married and bring up a family. I can conceive of no experience better adapted to give either a woman or a man that knowledge which is most likely to be of value in the discharge of public office than that which comes from the family life."

"I am aware that there have been many excellent executives, both men and women, who have lived a single life. But I think that they may have worked under a great handicap, which perhaps entitles them to a greater credit."

"A successful political career consists of being able to help provide the people with what they need in their relationship with each other. I think that the family life is the corner stone of our social life, and so of our political life."

"You made one statement, Mr. President, which I noted particularly," I remarked. "You said that those men and women who have attained distinguished success without being married have worked under a great handicap. I take it to mean that there is no doubt in your mind that marriage is a great contribution to a man's success."

"How can there be any doubt about it?" he replied. "A man who has the companionship of a lovely and gracious woman enjoys the supreme blessing that life can give. And no citizen of the United States knows the truth of that statement better than I."

"The presidency has its very pleasant aspects," he concluded. "Perhaps the most enjoyable part of the President's duties consists in meeting the people in the ordinary walks of life with whom he comes in contact. It is by that method, in my own case, that I keep in touch with the needs and ideas of the public. There is, of course, a great sense of uplift and support in the knowledge that one has behind him the confidence and friendship of the people of a great nation."

"Beyond that there is the inspiration of religious faith. I have always attended church regularly when I could."

"It would be difficult for me to conceive of any one being able to administer the duties of a great office like the presidency without a belief in the guidance of a Divine Providence. Unless the President is sustained by an abiding faith in a divine power, I cannot understand how he would have the courage to attempt to meet the various problems that constantly pour in upon him from all parts of the earth."

Two great drivers who endorse the Studebaker L-Head Motor

STUDEBAKER Custom Sedans are powered by a quiet L-head motor which has won the wholehearted approval of engineering authorities and world-famous drivers.

Ralph De Palma, America's great racing ace and staunch admirer of this splendid motor, says the Studebaker engine will stand more punishment than any other stock model car.

In a stock Studebaker, Ab Jenkins smashed all previous transcontinental records on June 17—under the most adverse weather conditions. He has driven many makes of cars. But the numerous records he has established were all made in Studebakers. His preference for Studebaker is due to the abundant power and stamina of its famous L-head motor.

Such experts know—and 70% of American manufacturers have endorsed their opinion by adopting this L-head type of engine design.

TINTS OF FALL'S HARVESTS ARE MICHIGAN LURE

Bennett Writes of Trip Into 'Chicago's Riviera.'

You may recall that in our issue of Thursday, Sept. 9, I was telling you how my chief breeze in from the west Michigan shore—to which he gave the name "Chicago Riviera," since generally adopted—and bade me drop for the moment further Illinois stories in the Tribune's Chicagoand Pilgrimage and go to Michigan for ten days to collect Riviera material. He wishes the Michigan stories printed before it goes too cold for Chicagoandlers to make the exhilarating Riviera pilgrimage. So, in story 36 of our Chicagoand Pilgrimage, all aboard for Mackinac, Ludington, Manistee, and Holland—200 miles of gold and purple and ozone.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Now—right now—is the time to take one of the world's best rides.

Here, almost at the foot of the lake, Michigan City, yonder, 200 miles north as the crow flies, Manistee.

Connecting them an 18 to 20 foot breadth of paved ribbon, sometimes skirting the lake shore, sometimes snaking unfurling itself alongside orchards three to ten miles back from shore.

What colors on the face of the countryside! What wine in the air!

The commanding note is gold: sands of gold and white; orchards of gold and purple; woodlands of gold and green, flinging out here and there streamers and banners of crimson—flags of the outposts of autumn's advancing army.

From Hush to the Sublime.

From Tabor's Farm, where, in my day there, which was twenty years ago, they made a roast beef hash that was not a kitchen makeshift but a culinary masterpiece—from Tabor's Farm on the St. Joseph river, and well inland from the town of St. Joseph, to Manistee, seven counties to the north, where the frost is in the air, the whole countryside is singing the Benedicite opera Domini out of the Book of Common Prayer.

You remember how it goes—

"O ye Deeds and Fruits, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and magnify him forever."

O all ye Green Things upon the earth, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and magnify him forever.

"O ye holy and humble Men of heart, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and magnify him forever."

And so it is.

The "winds of God" and the "waters that be above the firmament" all are chanting the Benedicite as the book bids them do. Yonder are leagues upon leagues of our blue sea of sweet water; yonder the clouds of fleecy rain wafting across from the Wisconsin shore; yonder the yellow sand dunes pyramiding the shore, and by the roadside little groups of farm people apportioning, vending and replenishing on treasuries their stores of vegetables and fruits and flowers which you may buy at prices which make the metropolitan produce merchants cry out in panic.

One of the features of the group of projects is the number in which concrete is to be used.

All along the west Michigan shore—one of the most celebrated and fruitful orchard and vineyard areas in the world—Nature now is winding up her year's work, so to speak, and decking her tables of opulence with a score of housewifely fancies.

A score? Nay, 'tis endless, this whimsicality of Nature spreading her banquet and strewing the cloth with beautiful things.

Getting Ready for Harvest.

Goldenrod fringing the highways with slender shafts of mellow light.

The mountain ash trees are joining in this Benedicite of warmth and color by hanging out their bunches of close set berries. They burn dull red against the green of the tree—like the patches of live coals in a seacoal fire.

Buckwheat fields some of them snow white now—are they the table cloths for this incomparable feast? It might be so.

I said the air was like wine. Worn out phrase, but necessary now because literally true. You will believe it when you pass the vineyards near Benton Harbor on the north and St. Joseph on the south. From them, especially at twilight, comes a perfume like the bouquet of the most delicate vintage you ever opened. It is a perfume laced with autumnal breezes, and sparkling burgundy is flat in comparison.

Along Autumn's Way of Triumph.

Red and purple and deep green crowded together in a kind of lane or alley! That effect you behold just before you enter, from the south, the town of Hart in Oceana county. On one side of the narrow road is a closely planted furlong or two of plum trees bending tipily with fruit; on the other a wall of evergreens. So, for many seconds, you make a progress as gorgeous as a Roman emperor's via victoriosa.

You draw near to Manistee. The white birches that spell the veritable north become more numerous. "The ladies of the forest," the Germans call them, and their wistfulness supplements with a pathos too poignant and too subtle to be cast into words the warm, voluptuous beauty of the fruit-bearing trees.

Recalls Old Days of New France.

You are, in truth, getting into the true north of Chicagoand—the country of the Jesuit missionary tradition; the country of the tradition of the fur traders who received their permits and patents from the royal governors at Quebec and Montreal; the country of the Chippewa tradition.

Through the twilight you see gleaming in graveyards the little white crosses with black-tipped arms which come down in a direct line from the crosses which the converted Indians of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries were wont to set above the graves of their dead.

On you march with Autumn, seeing the benign old man as never before—he is so close to you, so friendly, and so interesting now. You see him through Tom Hood's eyes. "I saw old Autumn," said he—

"I saw old Autumn in the misty morn

Stand shadowless like silence, listening

To silence; . . .

Shaking his languid locks all dewy bright

With tangled gossamer that fell by night,

Pearling his coronet of golden corn."

How fine, how complete, is that picture of the fruit-crowned, frost-crowned king standing "shadowless" in the misty dawn!

The Many Charms of M. I.

Such, neighbor, is "Chicago's Riviera."

Such are the scenes along the celebrated "M. Eleven" of Michigan's highway system—M. Eleven that skirts our Riviera from the Michigan state line to the Strait of Mackinac.

Load your car right now, says my chief, on one of the Goodrich line steamships bound for Muskegon and see your Riviera with lusty Autumn for comrade and guide. Here is THE TRIBUNE editorial of Jan. 6, 1926, in which my chief named this area of Chicagoand; it is a stock item now of the pamphlets and leaflets issued by the go-getters of all the chambers of commerce and trade bureaus from St. Joseph to Traverse City:

"The east shore is Chicago's Riviera.

From the dunes to Muskegon there is climate and sand. There is surf and the west wind. The east shore of Lake Michigan is Chicago's Italian winter and Norwegian summer. It is a strip of marine climate set into the middle of the continent.

All this happens, says our James O'Donnell Bennett, in an interval of scientific reporting, because Lake Michigan is a great temperance society here beside us. The prevailing winds are westerly, and after a hundred miles over the lake their extremes are lost. In zero weather the lake is still not far from 35 degrees. In 100 degrees weather the lake is not much more than 70 degrees. Cool west-erlies in summer; warm westerlies in winter temper the eastern shore to any Chicago lands that care to go there.

When the airplane brings the east shore within commuting radius, trans-lucian Chicago will arise. It will be our all the year round Riviera."

It Has Stalwart History.

Our Riviera is a fruitful land in more ways than orchards and a stimulating one in more senses than ozone.

Such vivid lore as I picked up—at least, I think so—you would hardly find outside New England—sleazy, savory stories with precepts and morals in them and fraught with stalwart tradition that makes better and prouder citizens out of the inhabitants of a countryside—if they forget it not. Many do.

As, for example, the story of a cruel indignity put upon a brave, unselfish man, an indignity that helped bring on the civil war and that was the inspiration of one of the most scathing poems in American literature.

He, in his old age, was a Muskegon man.

NEW RULING ADDS $5,500,000 FOR CITY'S PROJECTS

Supreme Court Clears Up Bonding Power Limit.

Quick progress on the La Salle street improvement and other urgent projects, halted by a Supreme court decision in July which supposedly cut the city's bonding power, was assured under a new interpretation of the ruling by Corporation Counsel Busch yesterday.

Close to $5,500,000 is added under the revised figures to the maximum indebtedness allowed the city, Mr. Busch estimated. This is the amount now in sinking funds which the court had presumably held could not be deducted in computing the debt total.

New Ruling Made. The new interpretation, Mr. Busch explained, came in a Supreme court decision in a Decatur case a few days ago when a ruling clearly specified that the city's sinking fund could be set off against its indebtedness. The former interpretation grew out of a decision made in an East St. Louis case last July.

"About the time we heard of the Decatur ruling we were also given access to briefs in the East St. Louis case," he said. "Previously we had seen only the text of the decision which had seemed confusing. The briefs at once cleared up the matter. They showed that the stipulation on which the court had based its decision did not even remotely suggest that any of the cash cited as on hand was in a sinking fund. The right to deduct this fund from the constitutional indebtedness was not questioned."

A Blow to Improvements. Mayor Dever and other officials were elated over the clearing up of the difficulty. With its bonding power cut from $18,000,000 to $6,831,118 under the July interpretation, the city was unable to sell only a small part of its bonds, even of those voted in April.

Shortly after the East St. Louis decision arrived, the mayor called in his department heads, and by close crying appropriations for the last half of 1925 were cut to $5,374,000. All except the most urgently needed improvements were postponed.

Although only about $1,600,000 was thus left within the supposed limit, an attempt was made a week ago to sell $5,000,000 in bonds for the new La Salle street bridge and widening project. A suit to prevent the sale was threatened by the citizens' association and only one bid was received, that of a New York syndicate.

The bid was only $8-as compared to the customary 99 plus and was rejected. An indefinite delay appeared to be in sight with a long and expensive litigation. Meanwhile, the bridge and widening project, badly

MISS HOPPER, NOW 65, IS BACK HOME; PARIS FOUND HER YOUTHFUL

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Edna Wallace Hopper, who admits she is sixty-five, and looks less than half that age, returned from Paris today. She said that doctors and other rejuvenators of France had pronounced her as "sexually, mentally, and physically but fifteen years of age."

Miss Hopper, who is known as "the eternal flapper," explained that the so-called "blood marriage" in Paris is for the rejuvenation of elderly men and women by transfusion of blood from the young to the aged.

"I haven't needed it yet," Edna said. "Correct living is the only secret of my youthfulness. I am going to play Juliet at ninety, as I shall be too busy to enact the role before that time."

needed as a north side outlet from the loop, would have waited. It is believed that in view of the urgency of the La Salle street work that it will be the first to benefit by the $5,000,000 boost in the debt limit.

The further leeway of $1,600,000 or more will be available for other widening improvements, bridges, playgrounds and other projects. The corporation counsel's new interpretation was sent to City Comptroller Martin J. O'Brien yesterday with directions to compile his financial report accordingly. It is likely that Mayor Dever will call another cabinet meeting when the report is made to take up another readjustment of appropriations.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN FOUND DEAD. An unidentified man was found dead at West Madison and Jefferson streets. His body was taken to the county morgue, where a bank book from the Mercantile Trust and Savings issued to John Murray was found in the clothing.

LIMIT DRINKS OF DRY AGENTS TO BUSINESS HOURS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Prohibition has at last found the dry army.

Calling his twenty-three prohibition administrators before him today for the third of a series of conferences, Lincoln C. Andrews, commander-in-chief of the nation's dry enforcement battalions, issued an order forbidding the drinking of intoxicants by administrators or any employees connected with the prohibition unit.

May Drink for Evidence. The only exception noted was that dry agents can still indulge in a snifter when such action is necessary in working up evidence against law violators.

Andrews warned the administrators that infractions of the rule would mean suspension and, in flagrant cases, dismissal.

Not only must dry agents respect the Volstead act, but they must be more careful in the future to obey the other laws of the nation and of the states and municipalities in which they operate. The administrators were told that while every effort must be made to enforce the law, a commission as a federal agent does not carry with it the right to violate other laws. Evidence, he said, must be obtained legally.

Yellowley May Be Boosted.

Following the conference it was learned that E. C. Yellowley, administrator for the Chicago district, is under consideration for the post of zone supervisor of a middle western district. Two supervisors have been appointed for eastern and southern districts.

FRITZEL DEFENDS HIS FRIARS' INN IN LIQUOR CASE

Mike Fritz, described by some prohibition agents and a few policemen as the epitome of caution, yesterday said in the witness chair in Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe's court and spoke a few well chosen words in behalf of his establishment, the Friars' Inn, at Wabash avenue and Van Buren street.

Fritz told how he had, at considerable expense, caused 1,000 cards to be printed, on which he had urged his patrons not to yield to the temptation to pour hooch in the ginger ale.

The cause of the effort of the government to close the Friars' Inn because it is alleged that persons were allowed to tote their own right into the place.

Judge Cliffe said he would take several days to think over the case.

'BEAT BRENNAN,' DRY LEAGUE CRY TO STATE VOTERS

"Beat Brennan" is the slogan of the Anti-Saloon league, which has entered its political activities on the Illinois senatorial campaign.

The defeat of George E. Brennan, Democratic national committeeman and one of the great schemers of the party, for United States senator, would be regarded as a great victory by the dry league, according to Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, founder of the league and one of its associate national superintendents. He has opened headquarters at the Hamilton club.

Calls Illinois Battle Center. "The Anti-Saloon League of America, and especially the Anti-Saloon league of Illinois, realizes that Illinois is the most important place politically at present in this country," Dr. Russell said. "The dry forces have, therefore, concentrated in the fight to defeat Brennan."

"Organization of anti-Brennan meetings through the churches will be one of the main objects of the dry league leaders," he said.

"Plans are now under way which when complete should enable the Anti-Saloon league to counteract the mendacious, salacious, and fallacious propaganda of the wet organization as a whole," Dr. Russell declared. "We know that we shall have to fight hard, that we shall have to combat evil elements, but we shall win. When we beat Brennan we shall have delivered a mortal blow to the wet."

Plan Many Meetings. Meetings will be held soon in Springfield, Peoria, Bloomington, Rock Island, Quincy, Rockford, Waukegan, and other cities he announced.

The drys are not disheartened by results of primaries in the various states, Dr. Russell said.

OCULIST ROBBED HIM OF WIFE AND BUSINESS, CLAIM

Try Balm Suit Against
Dr. Henry C. Barth.

Not only his wife but his business and his home were stolen by Dr. Henry C. Barth, well known oculist with offices at 204 West 63d street, according to charges made by Harry A. Carr, 238 West 59th street, a merchant, before Judge Jesse Holdom yesterday as trial of Carr's $50,000 alienation of affections suit against the physician was begun.

Carr's story was detailed in opening statements by his lawyers. He was happy in his marriage with Mrs. Cecelia A. Carr, 1727 West 103d street, until Dr. Barth entered their lives, they told the judge and jury.

Made Gifts to Wife.
Dr. Barth wrecked the Carr marriage by heaping gifts upon Mrs. Carr, it was charged. He purchased a home for her and induced her to leave her husband in 1919 and live there. Soon after, Carr was tricked into signing away his rights in his business and was also forced to relinquish his in-

CONFESSION LIGHTENS HIS SENTENCE TO JAIL FOR FORGERY OF WILL

A full confession by Edmund Ostronaki, real estate dealer, that he forged the will of Mrs. Mary Sterling French, eccentric recluse of Park Ridge, after her death last January, yesterday gained him a lightening of his sentence from 60 days in the county jail to 30 days.

Stanley Golembewski and Harry Papka, witnesses to the will, need serve only 15 days instead of 30 days. Probate Judge Henry Horner decided. The judge declared, however, that the three defendants and Mrs. Harriet Dahlman, beneficiary under the fraudulent will, should be indicted for conspiracy.

Interest in the Carr home, he declared. Dr. Barth then furnished Mrs. Carr with a summer home on an inland lake, bought her a motor boat, and allowed her the use of his automobile, the jury was told. There were also checks for large amounts, a fur coat, two diamond rings, a pearl necklace, and much other jewelry as evidences of the doctor's generosity, it was charged.

Carr on Stand Today.
Since Dr. Barth has lavished so much upon Mrs. Carr, the attorneys argued that it would only be proper for him to donate something to her husband. The jury was told that $50,000 would go a long way toward soothing Carr's wounded sensibilities. He will take the witness stand today.

ISSUE WRIT FOR WRIGHT AND OLGA IN PENNSYLVANIA

Ebensburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A writ of habeas corpus was granted in the Cambria County courts today upon petition of Valdemar A. Hinzberg, who seeks to prevent his divorced wife, Olga Milanoff, from taking their daughter, Svetlana Hinzberg, from the United States. The writ ordered that the child be brought into court here at once. Olga Milanoff, Frank Lloyd Wright, Chicago architect, and others were named as defendants. Hinzberg set forth in his petition that his wife was given custody of the child at the time he and his wife were divorced, it being stipulated that the child should not be taken from the United States. He was recently advised, the petition said, that the mother contemplated a trip abroad. Hinzberg came here in quest of his ex-wife, believed to be on the way east from the midwest. The sheriff was tonight trying to ascertain if the defendants were in this country.

Take Tallies Inventory.
Spring Green, Wis., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—While interest centered tonight on the reported finding of Frank Lloyd Wright in Pennsylvania, his financial adviser, R. L. Hopkins, president of the Bank of Wisconsin, who holds mortgages on Wright's possessions, was busy supervising the taking of an inventory at Tallies, the Wright summer home here.

BRITAIN SENDS NEW DESTROYER FLEET TO CHINA

Feng and Canton Troops Press Retreating Wu.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Sept. 22.—It was reported tonight from Malta that the third British destroyer flotilla, consisting of seven vessels, attached to the British fleet in the Mediterranean, was on its way to Chinese waters to protect British interests in China.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEKING, Sept. 22.—The drive of the bolshevik Cantonese troops toward north China continues, with a further penetration into Honan province following withdrawal of the troops of Marshal Wu Peifu, central China leader, to the north of the Yellow river.

A second and a third Kuomintang [national] army have been organized by the Cantonese out of the deserters from the forces of Marshal Wu in Honan, and these are attempting to make a junction with the army of Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian general, who has reorganized his forces, which were defeated by Marshal Wu and Marshal Chang Tso-lin of Manchuria at Nankow Pass, northwest of Peking, early last summer. Feng's troops, moving southeastward, today penetrated Honan province.

Press Wu's Ally.
The Cantonese strategy appears to be to move rapidly eastward over the railway from Chengchow to Hsuehfu, then pressing southward upon Marshal Sun Chuang-fang, the ruler of eastern China, and an ally of Wu, simultaneously with the eastward drive of the Cantonese army now nearing Kiukiang, in Kiangsi province. Gen. Sun, unable to obtain reinforcements, has decided to stand on the line of the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway, also planning to battle for Hupeh province against heavy odds.

The success of the movement to envelop the lower Yangtze provinces would leave the Peking faction, headed by Marshal Wu and Chang Tso-lin, only Manchuria and Chihli and Shantung provinces, with Shansi still neutral.

Control Half of China.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
SHANGHAI, Sept. 22.—Mutual jealousies, combined with the inability of the northern militarists to formulate a government program, is responsible for the rapid spread of the influence of the Kuomintang, or Radical party, dominated by the Cantonese. The radicals now claim to control virtually half of the Chinese republic, including the provinces of Kwantung, Kwangsi, Kweichow, Hunan, Szechwan, Hupeh, and Kansu, with part control of Honan and Shensi provinces.

Americans Released.

HANKOW, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. A. Shepherd, two of the twenty-one Americans who have been on starvation rations for a week in besieged Wuchang, were released today from the famishing city and crossed the Yangtze river to Hankow. By agreement of the defending northern forces and the Cantonese investing forces, the city's gates will be opened for three hours tomorrow to permit all women and children to leave. Capitulation of Wuchang is imminent.

YOUTH POSING AS MOVIE STAR LANDS IN JAIL

Arrest for Swindle Ends
Swashbuckler's Career.

A colorful career, besprinkled here and there with adventures beyond the law, police strongly suspect, came to an abrupt climax yesterday with the arrest of a youth who gave the name of Arthur G. Mackey, 28 years old, 311 South Lotus avenue.

Mackey, who later admitted that that was not his real name, was picked up at Grace street and Broadway by Sergts. Ryan and Smith of the detective bureau on charges of obtaining $500 from a loan bank under false pretenses, and of defrauding a downtown haberdasher of $300 in merchandise. The complainant in the bank case is Jacob Kirsch, 5928 Normal avenue, former official of a manufacturing firm for which Mackey was a high pressure salesman.

Reveal Swashbuckling Career.

But in the background of the comparatively modest charges lies a yarn revealing Mackey, investigators declare, as a swashbuckling hero of the Gold Coast, a wrecker of feminine hearts, and as an alleged "remittance man," scion of an aristocratic family of Belfast, Ireland.

A fatal resemblance to the famous Douglas Fairbanks, plus the manners of a courtier and a gift tongue, are among the assets of Mackey which helped to hoist him to the heights of favor among the wealthy, until his bubble burst, his associates say.

Mackey, it appears, showed up in Chicago several months ago. His winning ways, his marvelous stories of his Belfast family, of often pinch-hitting for Doug when the screen star didn't

PUNCH YIELDS POINT TO "PUSSYFOOTS" AND BANS ADS FOR LIQUOR

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Punch, England's famous humorous weekly, has yielded a point to the prohibitionists. Liquor advertisements are to be banned from its pages. It is understood that the advertisers and others concerned have been informed that no further advertisements of alcoholic beverages will be accepted. Contracts already made for this year and next will be carried out, but upon their expiration the weekly will be "dry" in its advertising columns.

The decision has created a mild sensation in British advertising circles, and marks an entirely new departure in British advertising. The proprietors, Bradbury, Agnew & Co., decline to discuss the new policy.

feel like working, of a $200,000 fortune won in Los Angeles real estate, only to be frittered away later in "Spindletop" shares—all this quickly ingratiated Mackey into the hearts—and the pocketbooks—of the unwary, so the story goes.

Unknown to Fairbanks.
But California dispatches quote Fairbanks as denying that he ever heard of Mackey, with the added rejoinder that "I do my own stunts," and a cablegram to Belfast, where Mackey says his brother is a wealthy linen manufacturer, brought merely the cryptic reply that the query had been turned over to Scotland Yard officials for investigation.

Miss Ethel Baker, 1302 Astor street, whom Mackey claimed as a close friend, admitted that she knew him. "He has been here two or three times to call upon my niece, but I know him but slightly," she said.

Kirsch said that Mackey persuaded him to sign as security a promissory note for $500 at a bank. Mackey later declared he had not borrowed the money after all. "But," said Mr. Kirsch, "weeks later the bank informed me the loan had been made and no payments had been made on it. Looks like I'll have to pay it."

BLOW AT CONSUL NOT MEANT FOR HIM, ITALY SAYS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Further details of the assault on Earl Brennan, American vice consul at Rome, on Sept. 11 were given out at the state department today at the request of the Italian embassy.

In a signed statement Count Delfino Rogeri di Villanova, first secretary of the Italian embassy, minimizes the seriousness of the incident, saying the blow suffered by Mr. Brennan was purely accidental. It was explained that the vice consul, while leaving a store, was accidentally struck with a stick in a row among members of a crowd. First news of the Brennan attack reached the state department through an article in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Secretary of State Kellogg immediately cabled to Rome, where the story of the assault was confirmed.

BLAME OLD FEUD AS STORE OWNER IS SHOT TO DEATH

Enmity which had its inception in an old world Sicilian feud was the only motive police could discover last night in the murder of Ignazio Mingare, 35 years old, 3092 South Wells street, who was shot to death with shotgun slugs by several men riding in a closed car. Mingare and a companion were at 31st and Wells streets when the shooting occurred.

Mingare, owner of a fruit store, was not known to be in the alcohol or beer racket, according to police. He had received no black hand letters, according to members of his family. It was thought that Mingare, before he came to this country twelve years ago, was involved in a feud which had its culmination in last night's shooting.

The automobile containing the murderers drove swiftly away and witnesses could not obtain the license number, they said.

ALFONSO CALLS PRIMO'S FOE TO PLAN NEW RULE

Quick Shakeup of Spain's Government Seen.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Copyright, 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Sept. 22.—While the last two days are known to have been momentous in the shaping of Spain's future form of government, and in creating a foreign policy that will enable Spain to resume its place in international affairs, the actual decisions taken by the government and the king at the ministers' council here still are shrouded in secrecy.

Gen. de Rivera's statement to the Senate, yesterday, that Spain was returning to the constitutional form of government, was the first real link that the dictator had withdrawn his original demand that the directorate must reign three years more to finish the work it began.

Demand Prompt Reorganization. However, other information does not coincide with the dictator's statement that "the convening of the national assembly in November will be the first step in that direction." There are many reasons to believe there is a chance of its occurring before then. There are some who insist that the government be reorganized and possibly completely changed within a week.

That the king himself is surrendering to the popular demand for the restoration of constitutional government is strongly indicated by the fact that he has called in Sanchez Guerra, leader of the Conservative party, and the only man who has dared consistently to oppose Gen. de Rivera since his coup three years ago.

Señor Guerra has heretofore even refused to attend the birthday receptions of the king and queen.

It would be premature, however, to say outright that Gen. de Rivera is going out. While Señor Guerra refuses to reveal what the king wanted, it is regarded as likely that he asked the Conservative leader to collaborate in the work of the government, whose duty would be to outline the provisions for the assembly and the transferring of the government from a military to a constitutional basis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Retire Nine Artillery Chiefs.

The Spanish war ministry has announced the retirement of nine high officers of the artillery corps, including the chief of the division. This is regarded as an indication that the government intends to reorganize the artillery corps, following the recent revolt, according to the plans of Premier Primo de Rivera.

OGDEN M'CLURG ESTATE VALUED AT $1,250,000

Investments Listed in Inventory.

Investments of the late Ogden T. McClurg, publisher and explorer, were listed in an inventory of his $1,250,000 estate approved yesterday by Joseph F. Geary, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The inventory showed that the estate was worth much more than the estimate of $750,000, made last April when the will was filed.

Found Dying by Roadside.

Mr. McClurg was found dying April 20 in a ditch at the side of a road near Elmhurst, Ill. He had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. His will provided that one-third of the estate was to be given to his widow, Mrs. Gertrude S. McClurg, 999 Lake Shore drive. The remaining two-thirds was given in trust to Mrs. McClurg to hold for two daughters, Eleanor and Barbara, until they become of age.

Inventory of Estate.

The inventory showed that Mr. McClurg had $89,637 in cash at the time of his death. The following stocks and bonds were listed:

3,802-A. C. McClurg & Co.	27,000
100—Chicago Dock and Canal Co.	10,000
100—Lakes Shore Tr. & Svcs. Bk.	10,000
100—Illinois Central R. Co.	10,000
100—Swedish-Am. Invest. Corp.	10,000
30—Board of Education, Albuquerque, N. M.	15,000
10—Florida Public Service Co.	10,000
10—Illinois Power & Light Co.	10,000
20—Nor. Ontario Lt. & Pow. Co.	20,000
10—Ohio Power company	10,000
15—Penn. Gas and Electric Co.	15,000

Memberships in the Racquet, Saddle and Cycle, and South Shore Country clubs were also listed.

MERTON BOND IS TRACED INTO MILLER'S HANDS

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A $10,000 Liberty loan bond was traced in court today from the hands of Richard Merton, German metal magnate, to those of Thomas W. Miller, who is on trial with Harry M. Daugherty for releasing to the German $1,000,000 proceeds of American Metal company assets seized during the war.

Howard J. Sachs of the brokerage firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co. testified to turning $391,000 worth of Liberty bonds to Merton on Oct. 1, 1921. He said that King was present at the time.

John Bailey O'Rourke, an employee of the brokerage firm of Stewart & Applegate, testified that on April 26, 1922, Liberty bonds valued at $12,000 were received for the account of Miller. It was shown by the government that one of these bonds, valued at $10,000, held the same serial number as one of the bonds turned over to Merton by Goldman, Sachs & Co.

COALYARD WORKER ELECTROCUTED.

H. Walker, 35 years old, Evanston Negro, was electrocuted and four fellow workers were shocked yesterday in the Marquette Coal company yards, 730 Piney avenue, Evanston, when the conveyor they were moving struck an overhead wire.

INDICT FLORIDA CONTROLLER FOR BANKING LAXITY

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 22.—(Special).—Ernest Amos, controller of the state of Florida, was indicted today by the grand jury on three counts charging him with malpractice in office in connection with failures last June of the Palm Beach Bank and Trust company and the Commercial Bank and Trust company of West Palm Beach.

Seven officials of the two banks also were indicted. They are Benjamin R. Clayton, president of the Palm Beach Bank and Trust company; Howard D. Smith, D. Lester Williams, and Ralph Payne, vice presidents, and Carl A. Carter, head of the trust department, and Thomas M. Cook, president of the Commercial Bank and Trust company, and Adrian E. Pearson, its vice president.

The principal charge against Mr. Amos is that, knowing the two banks were in an unsound condition and operating on a cash reserve so far below their legal limit as to render their operation unsafe, he neglected to perform his duty by removing the bank officials.

LAY WET PLANK FOR CONVENTION OF COUNTY G. O. P.

Cook county Republican chiefs last night began the construction of the platform on which candidates will stand in the November election. The anti-Volstead, anti-world court, and Republican prosperity plans they are drafting will be presented to the G. O. P. county convention tomorrow.

Despite the efforts of Frank L. Smith, Republican nominee for United States senator, to get the Cook county G. O. P. to soft pedal the wet-dry issue, the county leaders are standing pat for a flatfooted declaration against the Volstead act.

Smith has indicated that he intends to take the dry side of the argument in his campaign against George E. Brennan, Democratic nominee, who is wet. Overtures have been made to the Deeney camp to take part in the Republican county campaign and the negotiators report progress.

ALLEGED BURGULAR BITES COP.

Patrolman Walter Storm of Wabash avenue police was severely bitten yesterday by Martin Taylor, 53 years old, a Negro, whom he took into custody. Taylor, who was wanted on a burglary charge, was finally subdued by Storm and locked in a cell.

CHILDHOOD LINES CHEER AS AGED ARMY FILES BY

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Over flowers strewn by children up the long hill leading toward their commander in chief, members of the Grand Army of the Republic marched today with faltering steps. Not a veteran dropped from the line until he had saluted his general.

Through a drizzling rain for more than two hours the column crept past the reviewing stand containing Gen. John B. Inman and his general staff, at the foot of the state capitol. Guns boomed and the Stars and Stripes floated on parachutes across the city as the procession, headed by 700 troops from Fort Des Moines, crossed the river at the foot of the hill.

Two thousand of the smiling survivors of the civil war had refused to be disheartened by the rain which started early in the day and insisted on entering the parade on foot, but hundreds of their comrades rode behind them in a double column of automobiles that stretched four miles down Locust street. The children of the city schools had been dismissed for the day and lined the avenue, waving flags, singing and cheering.

TO THE PROUD HOSTESS

You take pride in the food you serve your family and guests, but what do you do for their thirst? In every modern home Clicquot Club is almost as necessary in the ice-box as ice

ARE you hostess to your family's thirst as well as to their hunger? When the ones you love come thirsting home, is there nothing but water for their parched, dry throats? Or do they find sparkling Clicquot, cooling on the ice—a symbol of your thoughtfulness?

Modern mothers by the thousands keep Clicquot Club always on hand. It is one drink that pleases the thirst of the entire family—from the critical thirst of husbands to the impatient thirst of children. Since it was first made more than forty years ago, Clicquot Club Ginger Ale has delighted more people than any other beverage ever bottled.

They all like it! And, happily, it is good for them. Let them have it as cold as ice—even on the hottest

More for your money

Clicquot Club is the best ginger ale that money can buy—and you get more ginger ale for your money. Each generous bottle contains a full pint—one third more than most other ginger ales.

Two flavors

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale comes in two flavors: the "Pale Dry," delicate, subtle as old wine; and the zesty, refreshing "Golden," America's favorite for forty-odd years.

day. It cannot chill their precious stomachs, thanks to the gentle touch of ginger. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is as pure and wholesome as if you made it yourself. The ginger is the best Jamaica ginger root it is possible to buy. The fruit flavor is from the finest limes and lemons of California and the Mediterranean. And remember, there is no city water in Clicquot Club! Every last ounce of it comes from deep down in the famous Clicquot Club springs, far from city smoke and soot.

In your own home, know the pride and pleasure that come from serving tempting drink as well as pleasing food. Order a case—24 bottles—of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale from your grocer today. Or you can get it by the bottle, ice-cold, from the drug store. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

Emily Post

Whose book "Etiquette" is the unquestioned authority on table appointments, says "I think Clicquot Club Pale Dry is much the nicest ginger ale I have ever tasted. It is attractive in color, tempting, and delicious in flavor. In fact, it seems to complete the hospitable effect of a perfectly appointed table."

When you order Clicquot Club no other drink can be substituted for it—because the name "Clicquot Club" is blown in the bottle itself; because the trade mark is on the bottle cap; because the bottle is distinctive in shape and, most important, because the contents are impossible of imitation.

perative power and fighting instinct far surpassing those of opponents. If he forces the issue against Tunney, the logical tactics for him to pursue, Tunney is likely to get in at least one heavy crack with that countering right mitt. Landing either on body or jaw, Jack would receive a jolt to test his receptivity.

Jack Nervous Type.

Next comes mental condition. Dempsey is an extremely nervous type. He craves action and burns up inside while waiting for his foe. At the Gibbons battle in Shelby he was restless and impatient during the long time that Tommy took to tape his hands. Aside from his actual physical training for this fight, Dempsey has had other worries. With no real manager, since his disagreement with Jack Kearns, he had details of decisions of camp life with which he should not have been bothered.

Then there has been the succession of civil actions brought against him by the harassing Kearns. These frequently upset his temper. They were constant bars at a time when he needed mental stimulation by calm and rest. And Dempsey must know that, whatever their ultimate result, these actions are likely to tie up in the courts his share of the purse.

No man of Dempsey's temperament can go through these irritations without something being taken out of him, argue the Tunney contingent. To which the opposing school of thought replies that Dempsey, brooding and angry, will be a wild man when he lets loose his pent up nervous energy and grievances of the last few months against the first person he meets, which happens to be Tunney.

Experts String with Dempsey.

These conflicting views, these questions which only ring test can determine, are what makes the difference of opinion on the result, with the preponderance of experts on the side of Dempsey, but with a respectable minority swinging over to the Tunney camp.

Perhaps some of these views are in leaving Tunney as a fixed equation. This equation stabilizes the former machine as a good strong young fellow, who has no mental worries and supreme confidence. He can hit and hit hard, although not as hard as Dempsey. In none of his battles has he shown the ferociousness of the champion nor the inclination to press the battle.

Composite pre-battle opinion classes Tunney as better than average heavy weight class, who would have been easy picking for Jack in his prime, yet a probable winner if Dempsey has gone back to any marked extent.

This viewpoint is a bit unfortunate for Gene, if he loses he will be called mediocre while if he wins there will be a refrain that Dempsey is not the Dempsey of years gone by. Tunney, however, has one opportunity to dispute these lukewarm estimates. That is by delivering the battle to Dempsey and displaying a strategy and skill not hitherto shown.

Setting is 2½ and 3 to 1 in favor of Dempsey. In view of the uncertainties discussed, 3 to 2 would seem nearer equitable odds, although I expect Dempsey to win.

TWO CITIES WIN BERTHS IN PRO BASKET LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The American Basketball league concluded a three day meeting today with adoption of the schedule for the coming year and completion of plans for the operation of the league for the 1926-27 season.

Two cities will be represented in the league, New York and Philadelphia being added to the circuit, which last year consisted of Brooklyn, Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Fort Wayne, Detroit, Washington, and Chicago. The franchise that was operated in Buffalo last season will be transferred to Baltimore.

Two games a week will be played in each city. Each club will play fifty-four games, half of them at home. The season will be divided, the winner of each half to meet at the end for the world's championship.

JOPLIN EVENS SERIES.

Spartanburg, Mo., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Johnny Heller, home run king of the Western association, drove out two home runs in today's play off game for the championship of the Western association, but Joplin won the game, 7 to 6. The series now is even, Spartanburg having won yesterday's game, 6 to 3. The teams move to Joplin tomorrow for the next two games.

to leave soon afterward because Philadelphia is an hour and fifteen minutes away by train and it will be highly desirable to have the champion in town at least a few hours before a championship fight which is attracting a $2,000,000 gate.

It also follows that he will go by train for the trip by motor takes considerably more time and Dempsey is one who doesn't enjoy bouncing over the highways at sixty miles an hour, even with motorcycle outriders from the state gendarmie to clear the way. Furthermore, if his car were held up in a traffic jam and he were recognized by the traditional dirty faced kid on the curbstone, he would probably become the vortex of a riot and never reach the arena.

So the gallant detective sergeants, Tapscott, Trant, Broderick and Smith, who have been hiding behind the shrubbery and peering through the curtains of Kerry cottage for the last week, seeing a constable in the grocery boy, the milkman and the ice man, will have no call to produce their personal detecting kits of false whiskers and delectable noses to disguise Jack Dempsey on his trip to the scene of the fight. They merely will range themselves around him and carry Dempsey through the crowds like journeymen athletes on a professional football team conveying an illustrious but fragile Red Grange through a team of rough guys in Pittsburgh.

The champion said tonight that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, famous light heavyweight of ten years ago, will be one of his seconds tomorrow night.

Other Handlers Secret.

Dempsey is still making something of a mystery of the others who will have the honor of tiding the waterbottle to his lips and holding the smelling salts at the alert position during the fight. If he takes his entire household into his corner the operating force of the champion will extend back to a point somewhere near the twenty-first row. Yet they all want to go and each seems certain that he will be there when the bell rings, although somewhat doubtful about the others.

Then, Gene Normie, Dempsey's manager pro tem, will have to be accommodated in the limited space of the angle of the ropes, and the four detective sergeants are to be posted no further away than they could reach a man with a blackjack. With this congestion gathering, Doc Windows Bagley of New York, the best second for a prize fighter that came into the camp, has been sent away without a job. Bagley used to manage Gene Tunney and they parted as cordial enemies, so he told Dempsey he could put special enthusiasm into the work if he were hired as chief second.

Dempsey's Wire Whiskers Near Battle Length

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Jack Dempsey was shaved clean today, but by the time he goes into the ring in Philadelphia he probably will be wearing his usual fighting mask of black wire whiskers, smeared with coco butter.

Dempsey's beard sprouts fast. The growth was under way this evening and his shave will be nearly 40 hours old when he puts up his hands to fight.

For the last time, Jack Dempsey insisted this evening that he isn't afraid he will drop dead, go crazy or fall out of the ring if Gene Tunney should chance to punch him on his synthetic nose.

"I don't care if he knocks my nose off; I don't care if he knocks my ears off. I'll win that fight," he said.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—In preparation for handling a record-breaking crowd tomorrow, officials ordered two new gates cut in the walls of the sesqui-centennial stadium after Mayor Kendrick had been called in to arbitrate a dispute between Tex Rickard and E. L. Austin, director general of the exposition. Mayor Kendrick sided with Rickard and this afternoon workmen began cutting gates forty feet wide in the east and west walls, where 50,000 persons holding field seat tickets will enter.

One of the interesting groups that will come to the big fight by special car is that headed by Charles M. Schwab and Eugene G. Grace of the Bethlehem Steel company. They will entertain thirty-five guests, all presidents of subsidiary companies of the Bethlehem company, at what has been termed a "president's dinner" just before the big bout starts. The dinner to the steel men will be held in a private car.

Gov. Len Small of Illinois will be among the seven chief executives of as many states occupying ring side seats. Gov. Small has been assigned a seat in row A, section A. The governor called upon Promoter Rickard today, but the latter was in court at the time attending one of his numerous legal functions.

Other Handlers Secret.

Dempsey is still making something of a mystery of the others who will have the honor of tiding the waterbottle to his lips and holding the smelling salts at the alert position during the fight. If he takes his entire household into his corner the operating force of the champion will extend back to a point somewhere near the twenty-first row. Yet they all want to go and each seems certain that he will be there when the bell rings, although somewhat doubtful about the others.

130,000 Jam Philadelphia for Battle of the Sesqui

Indiana court some days ago on the ground that he held a previous contract for the champion's services, have also, according to all appearances tonight, met with failure. Clements' appeal this afternoon for an injunction against Dempsey and Tunney and their managers, Tex Rickard, promoter of the fight, the sesqui-centennial committee and the boxing commission, was put off until 10 a. m. tomorrow in Common Pleas court.

The chances seem strongly against the court's taking action so late as that, which would stop the fight.

Weather Still a Hazard.

The only serious hazard still in prospective is the weather. The last few days have been warm and bright, and if the night is cloudless a full moon will lend its superfluous aid to the millions of candle power which electric lights in the stadium will throw on the ring. But the local weather bureau, though convinced now that its fears that the Florida hurricane might recur on Philadelphia in the modified form of a downpour of rain were groundless, still says that there is a possibility of local showers tomorrow night.

If it should rain tomorrow night, the fight will be put off till Friday night. If it should rain then the combatants will can get together on Saturday night. But that is the last chance; the Pennsylvania law does not permit boxing on Sunday, and next week the sesqui-centennial stadium is engaged for other events. In that rather remote case the money of the ticket holders would have to be given back, which will occasion wailing and gnashing of teeth.

Both Full of Confidence.

Reports from the champion's camp at Atlantic City and the challenger's at Philadelphia are in excellent condition and full of confidence. They will weigh in tomorrow afternoon, according to the best evidence available, at pretty nearly the same weight, each somewhat over 160 pounds. Each

Jack by K. O. or Gene on Points—Chicagoans

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Hundreds of local boxing fans, most of whom pick Dempsey to win, left last night on special trains for Philadelphia, where Dempsey will defend his title against Gene Tunney in a ten round decision bout tonight.

The consensus of these boxing enthusiasts, some of whom have followed the sport for more than twenty years, is that Dempsey must win by a knockout if he is to be returned the victor. They figure the longer the fight goes the better chance Tunney has to win.

Boxing fans like the fighter with a punch. There is no denying that Dempsey can hit hard enough to topple over Tunney. Gene is not noted for his punching and undoubtedly will try to outbox the champion.

Promoter Jim Mullen is one of the few Chicagoans who pick Tunney. Jim believes the challenger is clever enough to stay away from the champion for the first four or five rounds and then will outbox Dempsey so far there will be no question as to the winner.

Dave Barry, boxing instructor at Mullen's and a student of the game, claims Dempsey must win inside of four rounds. If Jack does not connect in these sessions, Dave believes the challenger will win on points.

Of the gate ten per cent goes to the federal government, and 5 per cent to Pennsylvania. The sesqui-centennial expects to draw down 10 per cent more, Rickard said in court today, and that he, or more accurately the Madison Square Garden corporation, of which he is president and which is promoting the fight, expected to make about $400,000 out of it.

From the items listed above it would appear that this is a gross, not a net, figure, and that when Rickard has paid all his expenses he is not likely to have much left beyond the satisfaction of having promoted the biggest sporting spectacle of modern times.

Visit Topeka, Becker Tells Duck Hunter

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago.—(To the Editor.)—Please let me know of some of the places where a "nonclubber" can shoot ducks. Would like to stay as close to Chicago as possible, but want to go to the Illinois river. Can only make a two day hunt.

ANSWER.—To date the closest Illinois river hunting place that I have been able to locate is in the general vicinity of Topeka. Am sending details of this to you, also other trips. Can't you get in a two day hunt by going down and coming home on night trains?

Elgin, Ill.—(To the Editor.)—We are planning a trip around the Horn, as it is called (Kawishiwi-Iabellia trip in the Superior National forest). Can you furnish me any tips on the best points to stop, and fish? Are there any muskies on this trip?

ANSWER.—I do not know the Kawishiwi country. Didn't get into that neck of the woods when I canoed through a part of the Superior National forest and the Quetico. I may be able to refer you to some one who can give you some dope. If you have time write Bill Somero or Joe Pluth at Elgin, Minn. Both know the canoe country well, and they should be able to give you considerable information.

PRICE OF WHEAT SHIFTS RAPIDLY IN 2-CENT RANGE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market was decidedly unsettled within a range of around 2c, and after very rapid price fluctuations the finish was 1/2c lower to 1/4c higher, the latter on May, September closed at $1.55 1/2, December at $1.58 1/2, and May at $1.44 1/2. Short covering was on in corn and it gained 1/4c with September, 74 1/2c; December 75 1/2c, and May 76 1/2c. Oats finished unchanged to 1/4c higher with September 46c, and December 45 1/2c, while rye was 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher with September 56c, and December 55 1/2c.

Opening prices on wheat were fractionally lower on scattered selling, but aggressive buying quickly developed and prices advanced rapidly to $1.55 1/2 with general short covering on the way up. A house with eastern connections that has recently been a good buyer became a liberal seller and started values downward, turning to the buying side of May on the break, and made the final bulge. Strength in Winnipeg was a factor in the market at times, and it closed 1/4c higher to 1/2c lower, the latter on May. There was buying of futures here against sales at Winnipeg by spreaders.

Saw Falls in Alberta.
A majority of leading commission houses continue to favor the selling side of wheat, but there was only moderate pressure on the market, and wet weather in western Alberta, with 14 inches snow reported at Calgary with snow at many other points in that province attracted considerable attention. A careful investigation made of the recent reports that a bull pool was operating in wheat failed to disclose the slightest evidence of such a condition, and the belief was expressed that the buying for eastern account was largely for individual account.

Cables indicated that conferences were being held looking toward a settlement of the British coal strike, and that some progress had been made. Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher with a further tightening in the ocean freight situation. Export demand showed improvement, with sales of 500,000 bu. a good part of the business being done on the "fifty break." Local handlers have sold 145,000 bu. to exporters in the last two days, and Duluth sold 150,000 bu. for export for Canada and for the American spring wheat territory was for unsettled weather.

Fear Frost in Corn Belt.
Fears that frost might develop in the corn belt, based on private forecasts, combined with wheat over part of the belt, and an overvalued condition was responsible for an early bulge of 1/4c. The official forecast, however, failed to indicate anything more than cooler weather, although there will be rain over a wide area, and profit taking developed and caused a good reaction. Country offerings to arrive continued liberal with purchases of old grain estimated at 15,000 bu. Eastern demand was only fair.

Investment buying was on in oats early, but later there was commission house and elevator selling, and the bid prices were not maintained. The finish was strong and 1/4c higher. Trade in rye was largely of a local character with the action of wheat the main influence.

MILLING IN SOUTHWEST
A further contraction in flour sales business of a lasting character was expected generally the last week, said the southwestern millers. Only a few mills of the southwest booked new sales equal to their capacity, the average being around 60 to 70 per cent. In the northwest, where barely latent developed, activity sales began to show evidence of tapering off, new bookings falling to less than capacity. Export buying was of fair volume with Holland and Germany the principal buyers.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat in all positions at the seaboard were finally estimated at 500,000 to 600,000 bu. and it was estimated that a fair business had been put through at the Gulf. Local handlers sold 150,000 bu. to exporters last Tuesday and yesterday. Domestic shipping sales here were 1,000 bu. of No. 1 hard, 11,000 bu. of No. 2 hard, and 5,000 bu. barley. Deliveries on September contracts aggregated 322,000 bu. of wheat, 24,000 bu. of corn, 22,000 bu. of oats, and 10,000 bu. of rye.

Offerings of cash wheat on spot here were not large and the basis was unchanged to 1/4c higher with No. 2 red 1 1/2c over and No. 3 red September price to 3c under. No. 3 hard brought 48 1/2c over and No. 3 hard September price to 3c over. Kansas City basis was unchanged and St. Louis 1c higher. At Minneapolis spring wheat were firm on dry and easy on wet, with shipping sales of 25,000 bu. Duluth sold 150,000 bu. of winter wheat to exporters.

Some of the late arrivals of cash corn showed the effect of the recent excessive rains in parts of the west and were decidedly wet. Dry grain brought former prices, the damp was off as much as 50c at the last. No. 3 grades sold at 5 1/2c under December. No. 3 grades 5 1/2c under, and No. 4 grades 5 1/2c under. Outside markets were 1/4c to 1/2c higher.

LAMBS—Bulk of sales yesterday, $10.00; 10.00; 10.00.

Hogs ruled strong to 25c higher on the day progressed, choice 230 lb averages late at $12.55, being comparable to the $13.40 kinds on early rounds. A short load at $13.60 was no criterion. General average moved up to $12.10. Underweights on the pig order weakened and closed a shade lower. Fancy 181 lb averages brought $12.25, with few light over $13.00, most 140-150 pounders clearing at $12.25 to $12.50.

Trading in cattle was two sided, better grades of beef steers ruling strong to higher, while others sold steady to 15c lower. Cattle averaging around 1,300 lbs, at $12.00 stood above any previous price of the season for that weight. Fancy 1,050 lbs, yearlings to Wilson & Martin for fine or "light" trade at Philadelphia, reached $12.35. More than 500 cattle sold at $11.75 and above, with more at $12.00 and above than any day this year.

Total cattle receipts yesterday were larger than hogs at 13,000, with the ten day period largest since December, 1924. Range of prices is widest of the season, but $5.00 narrower than the corresponding week in 1925. Better grades of cows and heifers sold steady, others weak to slightly lower. Bulls, acid steady and weak strong to higher, fancy yearlings at $11.00 to $11.50. Increasing supplies of thin cattle caused a break in stocker and feeders.

Best Lambs Advance.
Killing lambs sold steady to 15c higher yesterday, the advance in better grades. 200 lb averages moved up to $12.55, with bulk at $13.50 to $14.00. Natives to city butchers reached $13.85 and to packers, $12.75, a range of $11.00 to $13.75, taking most good kinds. Weighty buck lambs, $11.00 to $11.50, and strong weights, $10.00 to $10.50. Aged sheep were unchanged, $5.15 native ewes, $7.00 and 180 @ 200 lbs averages, $4.75 to $5.50. Country buyers were conservative and after a steady, even market for feeders finished weak to 25c lower, few light selling above $12.50 late. One string of fancy 60 pounders reached $14.15.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 12,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs and 25,000 sheep, against 8,000 cattle, 17,486 hogs and 12,500 sheep, the corresponding Thursday a year ago.

Yesterday's New Purchases.
Hog purchases yesterday by Chicago packers, including direct, follow:
Armour & Co., 1,400; Bremer P. Co., 800; Swift & Co., 800; Brennan P. Co., 800; Hammond Co., 400; Arar P. Co., 1,000; Morris & Co., 700; Others, 1,000; Wilson & Co., 1,000; Shippers, 2,500; Total, 13,400.
Western P. Co., 1,800; Total, 13,400.
Miller & Hart, 200; Left over, 5,000.

FINANCIAL NOTES
Allentown county, Pa., of which Pittsburgh is the seat, has paid $10,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent bonds to the Federal Trust and Savings bank, the National City company, Janney & Co., Graham, Parsons & Co., W. H. New bank and Co., the First National bank of Pittsburgh, and the Peoples Savings and Trust company, Pittsburgh. The bonds mature serially from 1927 to 1936 and are made subject to the right of the city to call for 4 1/2 per cent.

The price of silver metal in the New York market, which has been steadily declining since the report of the royal commission commission advocating a gold standard for India, yesterday reached the lowest level in 48 years at 90 1/2 cents an ounce. The latest decline reflected selling for far eastern account, which, bullion dealers said, failed to attract the usual Chinese support because of a holiday in this country.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry company has entered the automobile accessory field with the formation of the American Brake Material corporation, to manufacture new material and brake shoes for motor vehicles. Production will center at Lancaster, N. Y.

The Pennsylvania railroad is asking for bids Oct. 4 on 160,000 tons of open hearth steel rails with the option to increase the quantity to 200,000 tons.

MAKES $310,000 PROFIT IN DEAL AT ASHLAND-63D

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's far flung neighborhood business districts continue to chalk up record figures in real estate values. For instance, yesterday Morris Mecklenberg, Board of Trade operator, paid $450,000 cash for the southwest corner of 63rd and Ashland. This establishes a value of $2,750 a front foot on 63d, or $10 per square foot. The property is 120x135, and contains a two story store and office building.

Another interesting angle to this deal is the profit the sellers made. Julius Kramer and Jacob Schnadig, owners of the Pullman Couch company, bought this corner ten years ago for $140,000. Which means they made a nice little $310,000 by selling it to Mr. Mecklenberg. Carl & Ehrenhalt are the only brokers. Sonnenstein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson and Fiebel & Kahn were attorneys.

Byrns Mawr Club to Be Sold.
The Byrns Mawr Country club, tucked away in the southeast corner of Teseville (now a part of Chicago), is going to be sold. At the last meeting of the club full power was given a committee to negotiate the selling. It is reported that Krenn & Dato already have made a bid for it. The property is held at a price said to be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Edward A. Dato, of Krenn & Dato, at the club meeting just mentioned, announced that his construction department had put in a bid of $665,000 for improvements in the village of Teseville, which he said was 11 per cent cheaper than the next bid.

Logan Square Lease.
Peter Pantopoulos has leased from the Foreman Trust and Savings bank, trustees, 75x100 on Logan square, 125 feet east of Kedzie boulevard, north front, for ninety-nine years at a term rental of $900,000. He will pay $3,000 annually for the first ten years; $9,000 annually for the next ten and $10,000 yearly for the balance of the term. He has an option to buy the property, which is improved with a two story brick building, at any time within twenty-five years for $150,000 cash.

The six apartment building at 5615 South Park way has been leased for ten years from Oct. 1, 1926, by Nathan Neufeld to Herman Jacobs for a furnished kitchenette apartment hotel. The term rent is stated to be $20,000.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter was in fair demand with prices in leading markets little changed. Cheese about steady with a fair demand. Fresh eggs sold at former prices, but market was somewhat unsettled. Receipts, 155 cases. Live hens advanced 1/4c and other poultry was unchanged. Receipts, 9 cases and 1,800 coops.

Potatoes in good demand and market firm to a shade higher. Wisconsin sold at $1.75@2.10 per 100 lb for round stock, with decayed and heating lower. Receipts, 108 cases of butter for future delivery on the Chicago mercantile exchange aggregated 15 cases and eggs 77 cases. Prices follow:

BLACK BUTTERFLIES

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS

Attorney Owen Hatch remonstrates with his client and ward, Dorinda Maxwell, for her show in her big house since the death of her parents six months before and for her attitude toward the disreputable band known as BLACK BUTTERFLIES, the name that she will not give up the freedom that was denied her during her father's lifetime.

Hatch instructs young David Goddard, his clerk, to take some papers out to Dorinda's home to be signed.

INSTALLMENT V. NO OBJECT OF SYMPATHY.

In the telephone booth young Goddard was calling for Miss Maxwell. On the night of Norma's dance she had been merely a name to him and a strikingly pretty girl he had passed occasionally on the street. Now that he knew her, had danced with her, and had met at close range her sad and unhappy young eyes, he felt very sorry for her. In his mental remembrance, she was "up against it." She was "on the toberger," and from all he had heard, she was due to strike the bottom of the slide with a bad crash. Yet she had not seemed at all like that sort of girl the night of the dance at Norma's. She had been merely young and inexperienced and pathetically happy. They had danced together twice, and she had danced very badly and had confessed that she knew almost nothing about dancing. Evidently she had made long strides since then.

Her voice came to him over the wire and he hastened to give her his message.

He hung up the receiver with a grin. The girl's voice sounded a little like the morning after. He suspected that she would look like the morning after, too. He was mighty sure she didn't want to bother about legal papers, and he rather admired the sporting spirit she had shown in making the ap-

Good Morning!
(Want to know somebody who's a good actor? Ralph Sipperly. He's the man the goose follows in this picture—and he's a smart feller. So's the goose.)

The above is just by way of sotte voicing a little. Ralph Graves has the leading male role. But he is certainly assisted to great effect by the main chorus of the picture, consisting of David Butler, William Wallace, Lou Tellegen—Ralph Sipperly—and several others who may be said to know their onions.

No man, it has been declared, ever got far one way or another without the aid of some woman. For one he loves he will be either vurr' vurr' good, or vurr' vurr' bad, and it is this "woman power" that is referred to in the title.

Ralph Bromley, son of a rich father, is skidding along to the bow bows, assisted by the satin toe of a dark dancing lady to whom he is merely a plaything of which she has become tired.

He gets in a fracas with another admirer of said Dot, and the affair is dashed up with many trimmings in the morning's police.

Quitter! growls his father. "Cow-ard! There's no room in this house for you!"

Johnny looks at himself in the glass and what he sees there makes him pretty sick. Not being either a quitter or a coward, he takes himself to Jake Killian's training camp and puts himself in the hands of this w. k. maker of men.

Jake Killian has a niece. . . . Kathryn Perry, as this niece, is the sort of girl any man would want to make good for. A darling! And Margaret Livingston is just such a vamp as she should be to fill the requirements of the role.

"Woman Power" is, really, a dandy picture. Awfully well done and crowded with human interest.

See you tomorrow!

Statue to Spanish War Veterans to Be Unveiled

Memorial services for those who took part in the Spanish-American war will be held Sunday by the American Camp No. 2, United Spanish-American War Veterans, in the Bohemian National cemetery, when the bronze statue, erected by popular subscription, is to be dedicated. Charles G. East, state department commander; Oscar Carlstrom, attorney general, and John Cervenka, city treasurer, will speak.

CLOSEUPS

Dolores Costello is at present in a state of rebellion. She says she won't be the innocent but abused girl for Warner Brothers have just cast her in a crook drama they plan to produce. She says the part is unsuited to her and threatens her future success.

Rod La Rocque spent three weeks basking on the California desert in preparation for his role in "The Crusade of the Jasper B." The idea was to become so brown that he could avoid the use of makeup.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is nursing a damaged hand as the result of a movie fight with Eddie Gribbon in "Man Bull," starring Marie Prevost.

Joseph M. Schenck's new director at large, Vladimir Nemirovitch-Danchenko, co-founder with Constantin Stanislavsky of the Moscow Art theater, passed through Chicago yesterday in two cars on his way to the coast.

Injunction Refused School Teachers on Age Retirement Rule

Seventy-four public school teachers and principals yesterday lost their fight against the order retiring them from service last February because they were 70 years of age or over. Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend denied their petition for an injunction restraining the school board from placing them on the emeritus list where they receive approximately half pay.

Former Governor Edward P. Dunne, representing the teachers, announced he would appeal the case to the Illinois Supreme court. He argued that the emeritus list was a scheme to retire teachers in violation of the tenure of office law.

"We must assume that public officials are acting in good faith in cases of this sort," Judge Friend declared in his decision. "The rule is in effect a transfer instead of a retirement. The teachers are placed in another class where they may be called upon in advisory capacities to perform certain duties."

The board of education was represented by former Judge Frank S. Righeimer. In this case, where the persons involved are 70 years of age or over, the question of efficiency may well be brought into the matter."

Since the petition was filed eighteen of the teachers and principals have reached the age of 75 years and have been automatically retired under the state law.

James E. Armstrong, former principal of the Englewood high school, one of the leading opponents of the emeritus rule, was present in court. Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew also listened to the judge's decision. The school board was represented by former Judge Frank S. Righeimer.

The Inquiring Reporter Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. J. W. Allen, 6310 Vernon avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.
Do you approve of Prohibition Commissioner Andrews' suggestion to make letter carriers and other government employees dry spies?

The Answers.

William McAvoy, 112 North State street, chauffeur.—That would be a good idea, all right. The law ought to be enforced, and it is up to the government to enforce it. It stands to reason that employees of the government ought to help the government in this as well as in any other way possible.

Mrs. J. C. Stewart, 4715 North Hermitage avenue, housewife.—I can't answer that question. I don't believe this country should be dry. It can't be made dry. Mail carriers have enough to do, if they gave them less to do it would be a good thing.

Joseph Byrnes, 1214 South Halsted street, bookkeeper.—I guess so. I suppose it is proper to believe that the government knows its own business. I suppose we should take it for granted that mail carriers haven't much to do. One thing sure, more pay for them—not more work—is what would please the public.

Miss Lillian Lutter, 6806 Waveland avenue, bookkeeper.—No. Everybody has a right to their own opinion, and I think if any one wants to have liquor around they should be able to do so without any spying, inspection, or anything else. Mail carriers would be of no help for that—they are friends of ours.

Hugo H. Goldberger, 4726 North Springfield avenue, credit man.—No. That work belongs to a separate branch of the government and it would conflict with mail carriers' duties. Prohibition inspection requires a turn of mind totally different from that required in the postal branch of the government.

Doer of Obscure Duty Praised by President in Nathan Hale Eulogy

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—High praise for the lofty, character, patriotic devotion and unselfish service of Nathan Hale, the Revolutionary patriot, was sounded by President Coolidge tonight in a letter read at exercises held in Coventry, Conn., in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the twenty-one year old American who was shot by the British as a spy. The President paid special tribute to Hale's willingness to perform his duty without thought of reward but simply out of the desire to serve his country.

"What is needed today," said the President, "is a better realization of service in the less spectacular, and it may be the unpleasant and obscure duties in life. How wonderful if every one could be brought to realize the nobility of unselfish service in things that need to be done—whether the doing offers attractive rewards or holds out only a prospect of failure and contumely, possibly of what might be considered an inglorious end."

"On every side the citizen may find duties to be performed—not of a striking or appealing nature perhaps—but virtually essential if we are to preserve the liberties for which Nathan Hale and his associates in the Continental army fought and died."

"The President believes that Nathan Hale's story should be taught to every child in our schools."

"His last words: 'I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country,' should be impressed upon the minds of all children as a true symbol of unselfish and sublime devotion to duty," he said. "He did not die in vain."

"Did the hanging of that noble spirit, barely three months before his twenty-first birthday, make a failure? Was his execution, among strange and hostile faces, amid unsympathetic and possibly ribald comment, an inglorious death? No, it was a gloriously radiant moment when this young Christian patriot, denied the clergyman and the Bible for which he had asked, having seen his farewell letters to his loved ones torn up by a cruel and brutal provost marshal—so that the 'rebels' should not know that they had a man in their army who could die with such firmness—with his hand tied behind his back as a mark of shame, advanced with bright eyes and firm and steady tread to his fate."

THEATER

The comic piece named "Stylish Stunts," although its projectors have stated that they are eager to get it into New York, is indicated as in succession to "Pay to Hear" in the Adelphi; probably, October 10. The new piece is the one wherein Lou Holtz, known for his singing of soiled stanzas with George White's Scandals and other shows, is taking his chances at what is known in the lingo of backstage as "playing straight."

Meanwhile, I'm informed that amendments and revisions effected by the authors have been to the structural improvement of "Pay to Hear," and that the laughter of recent audiences has been marked by its continuousness.

The entrepreneurs of the La Salle's daisy little idea so to amplify the title that it will be "My Country; or, The Common People." Well, if they do that, they will make a hit with Mr. Teller and Mr. Brisbane, if with nobody else. . . . The review of the club may be held only upon resolution by the board of directors and with not less than three days' notice, giving time, place, and general object of the meeting. Therefore the meetings held by this group of insurgents is illegal and all action taken by them has no bearing whatever upon the status of the Arché club.

The president, Mrs. Virginia J. Headburg, has at no time accused the past treasurer of taking any funds whatever, but distinctly stated at the annual business meeting following the reading of the report by the then treasurer, Mrs. Thirwall, that "every penny belonging to the club is intact."

"The president did not retain the cash book," as reported, longer than was absolutely necessary to transmit the necessary business at the annual meeting. The former treasurer has received three notices to bring her former report to the auditor before incorporating same in the cash book. She has ignored these notices and has kept possession of the key to the safety deposit box, together with much of the necessary data pertaining to the financial activities of the club.

"All other accusations made by this insurgent group are incorrect as the club's records prove. Pledging anew our allegiance, may each member rally to sustain its good work and guard its reputation."

The document is signed by Virginia J. Headburg, Frances S. Kelley, Heloise A. Scott, Louise M. Laffin, Della B. Alward, Melaine T. Neal, Maud Whitcomb, Augusta B. Ostrom, Letitia E. Simonton, Mary Patterson Cole, Olga S. Corden, and Villa E. Graham.

The test will come Oct. 1 when the Arché club opens its season with a reception to Mrs. Walter Seymour, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs.

Czecho-Slovakia Honors Two Women of Illinois

The government of Czecho-Slovakia has conferred the order of the White Lion upon two Illinois women, Miss Mary E. McDowell, commissioner of public welfare in Chicago, and Miss Julia C. Lathrop of Rockford, first chief of the Children's bureau in the U. S. department of labor. This is the first time the honor has been awarded to women. Gen. Pershing and Secretary Hoover having been among the first to receive it.

Jews to Observe Today Feast of Tabernacles

Jews everywhere will observe Sunday, the Feast of Tabernacles today. The feast lasts eight days and the final day, Oct. 2, will be celebrated as the Feast of Conclusion. The Feast of Tabernacles is sometimes known as the Feast of Ingathering, for it represents the harvest time of the year. The tabernacles are associated with the life of Israelites when they lived in tents during their flight from Egypt at the time of the exodus. The festival will be observed with the synagogues decorated in harvest emblems and with gatherings of a joyous character.

Arche Board Again Upholds Mrs. Headburg

Insurgents Who Voted to Oust Her Rebuked.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Mrs. Albion L. Headburg for the second time in four days yesterday received a unanimous vote of confidence from her board of directors in the Arché club, and the insurgents who voted last Friday to oust her from its presidency for alleged "conduct unbecoming an officer" were, at the same time, rebuked as having indulged in action that was wholly illegal.

The following official notice was sent out last night by the board of directors to the membership of 600 of the club: "The entire board of directors of the Arché club, after a long legal action upon the existing controversy in your club, gives to you this authentic information."

"According to the by-laws of the Arché club, a corporation existing under and by virtue of the state of Illinois, any meeting is illegal held contrary to section 4, article 10, which states that 'special meetings of the club may be held only upon resolution by the board of directors and with not less than three days' notice, giving time, place, and general object of the meeting.' Therefore the meetings held by this group of insurgents is illegal and all action taken by them has no bearing whatever upon the status of the Arché club."

"The president, Mrs. Virginia J. Headburg, has at no time accused the past treasurer of taking any funds whatever, but distinctly stated at the annual business meeting following the reading of the report by the then treasurer, Mrs. Thirwall, that 'every penny belonging to the club is intact.'"

"The president did not retain the cash book," as reported, longer than was absolutely necessary to transmit the necessary business at the annual meeting. The former treasurer has received three notices to bring her former report to the auditor before incorporating same in the cash book. She has ignored these notices and has kept possession of the key to the safety deposit box, together with much of the necessary data pertaining to the financial activities of the club.

"All other accusations made by this insurgent group are incorrect as the club's records prove. Pledging anew our allegiance, may each member rally to sustain its good work and guard its reputation."

The document is signed by Virginia J. Headburg, Frances S. Kelley, Heloise A. Scott, Louise M. Laffin, Della B. Alward, Melaine T. Neal, Maud Whitcomb, Augusta B. Ostrom, Letitia E. Simonton, Mary Patterson Cole, Olga S. Corden, and Villa E. Graham.

The test will come Oct. 1 when the Arché club opens its season with a reception to Mrs. Walter Seymour, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs.

That Shy, Shrinking Nature Never Caught a Girl a Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Isn't it hard, Miss Blake, to be the only girl in an office of six to be without a beau? No one to take you to a show, to a dance, to a theater? And to have to sit in and listen while the others tell about their good times? I suspect the fault is mine. One part, over which I have no control, is my looks, and the other I know you say I could control to better advantage—a bashful, retiring nature. But that's my picture at 24, going on 25. Even though shy, I long to be loved. Is there any hope?"

Forlorn.

You ought to be loved, Forlorn. Every nice girl ought to have some nice man around to tell her the things that keep the spirit buoyed. But what are you doing about it? Sitting on the spinster shelf, letting the others gallop past on the merry route to the altar without so much as raising a hand.

Your looks you can control. You can keep them from going to seed, of that I am sure. You can wear colors that show you off to the best advantage. If you haven't beauty you can have style, you can have manners, you can have good skin, hair, teeth, and a merry smile.

In these days of marrying and being sought out in marriage, the sweetest thing violet just keeps on retiring early. The princes that used to come singing under their windows have all dropped off with bronchitis or something. Anyway, they're no more—rest their souls!

This is an age of self-advertisement and if we don't think we are worth something, nobody else will. If we don't think we are worth looking at—none pause to gaze. That's the plain truth. So, it's a girl's business if she wants to attract attention to give enough time and thought to her looks and dress to make her worth looking at. And then, not to retire into the background after she has accomplished this.

Women's Allure

no longer imperiled under hygienic handicaps—new way offers true protection; discards like tissue

FRESH, charming, immaculate under ALL conditions. Sheer gowns worn without a second's fear, any time, any day!

If you seek this added charm, stop employing old-time "sanitary pads," insecure, uncertain.

Eight in 10 better-class women now employ "KOTEX" . . . a new way, 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

You discard it as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy, at any drug or department store, simply by saying "KOTEX."

In fairness to yourself, try this amazing way. Costs only a few cents. Comes twelve in a package.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS. The nipped in waist line with the flaring hem, achieves the slender appearance so much desired. A printed crepe with collar and bindings of a contrasting color will look well. The pattern, 3707, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material with 1/2 yard of 36 inch contrasting.

FARM AND GARDEN

MASTODON. The great strawberry found in Indiana a few years ago, has stood the test in practically every section of the United States this season. It is now widely distributed and favorable reports come from experiment stations in various states where the berry has been tried.

In some places it is said this giant of the berry family produces three or four times as much fruit in a season as any other variety combined. In a patch on B. W. and B. H. Keith's farm near Sayre, Mich., a few weeks ago I counted from 20 to 30 strawberries to the plant. The Keiths, brothers, who have done perhaps more than any one else to develop this new berry, say it is not uncommon to find a plant with 100 berries on it. One fruiting stem in the Keith patch had 24 berries in various stages from blossoms to ripe berries. Many plants this summer have produced from a plant to a quart of berries. It only takes a few of them to fill a quart cup or box, and they are highly flavored down to the center of the berry.

Michigan and Indiana growers are still picking strawberries in their Mastodon patches and expect to have first class berries until it freezes. Growers say it is not uncommon for them to pick berries from this variety up to the last week in October. Last fall on Armisteads farm Michigan growers picked Mastodon strawberries. The seedling on this strain protect the fruits from frost.

Another reason the return tennage exceeds the coming over is the fact that the French menu and the French taxis there is a conspiracy to send the woman back to her own shores a fit candidate for a prolonged period of self denial. I'm sure I don't know what else can be done about it, but I am sure you will be able to reform when you get back home. It is the program outlined by the women I've talked to who frankly admit you can reduce in America, but in Paris it is not humanly possible.

TRIBUTE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Fish Garnishes.

In seeking a comparison for the worth of a garnish with a serving of fish, I have remembered how eagerly and almost greedily people used to seize upon a tiny bouquet consisting of two or three sprays of sweet alyssum and perhaps a carnation, which one of the railroads used to offer its passengers at a certain station. It was valued away beyond its worth in any sense whatever, and so perhaps are fish garnishes, yet so attractive they may be made, or served, that they give a great deal of an impulse to digestive forces.

For instance, in choosing "Special Boston salad," at a first class hotel, I found the potato garnish with the butter sauce, with just the right amount of greenness to make it good looking, about as satisfactory as a piece of potato could be, and just right for the savory filled fish.

Elsewhere I was entertained by ordering "steak of Live Weakfish Doria." The garnish was a slice of creamy fried eggplant, and on that occasion I was not disappointed.

Elsewhere I had an opprobrious arrangement of slices of potato, fairly well cooked in a bouillon, arranged as to lap one over another, and the whole length of an unknit fish whose identity one had to put down as anonymous, in spite of the dinner card. Some people may like to have a fish skin between two pieces of food, but I do not. And then there was far too much of the potato to call it a garnish. It was more of a shroud.

And talking about shrouds, or total covers for pieces of food, I have found them horrid for the most part, no matter where served. A fillet of fish shrouded in a flour thickened sauce is even more unpalatable than was that unknit fish covered with shroud.

And talking about shrouds, or total covers for pieces of food, I have found them horrid for the most part, no matter where served. A fillet of fish shrouded in a flour thickened sauce is even more unpalatable than was that unknit fish covered with shroud.

Meat may be presented to us ineffectively and be edible, but fish is more exacting.
